IKE SAYS:

Syria 'Russ Coups'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the ultimate aim of the pro-Communist bid for power in Syria is Soviet control of the country.

He told a press conference, however, the United States government does not know how far the process has gone.

And he added this is not at present one of those cases which would justify any kind of action under the Middle East program adopted early this year. That program, spelled out in a congressional resolution, provides for U.S. economic aid and use of American armed force if needed and invited, to head off Red aggression in the Middle East.

Eisenhower's evaluation was the first high-level American summation of the Syrian crisis since it began developing 10 days ago.

OLD SOVIET TACTIC

The pattern of what is happening in Syria, he said, is an old one with the Soviets. First they offered economic and military aid, then they penetrated the receiving country with their agents, and they found stooges to take over the country for them.

Asked specifically whether he considers this a deliberate Soviet effort to take over the strategically located Middle East country, Eisenhower replied that he thinks that is the ultimate aim.

U.K. Press Scores Foreign Policy

LONDON (AP)—Sharp criticism appeared in the British press today of Britain's official complacency toward the leftist drift in Syria.

But Foreign Secretary Lloyd, taking off for a 10-day holiday in Spain, declined comment.

The Daily Sketch said: "The gentlemen in the foreign office watch the Red star rise over the Middle East with an indifferent eye."

New Army Purge By Syria Reds

By United Press
Pro-Soviet elements in Syria have purged another group of army officers and replaced them with active Communists to consolidate further their bloodless revolution, Israeli dispatches reported today.

Reports also persisted Jerusalem, Israel, and Beirut, Lebanon, that Syrian president Shukri El Kuwaty had resigned. But Damascus radio and the Cairo press insisted he would return home in a few days from an Egyptian hospital.

Russ Speed Ships To Mediterranean

COPENHAGEN (UP)—A big Soviet cruiser and a destroyer raced north out of the Baltic past Denmark today, en route to the Mediterranean.

Moscow radio announced the ships were en route to the Mediterranean to "pay a courtesy visit to Albania."

Ex-Victorian Badly Burned In House Fire

A former Victoria lumber worker was in critical condition in a Vancouver hospital today following a rooming house fire in which a companion was burned to death and another seriously hurt.

Gurdas Singh, about 25, was apparently visiting friends when fire broke out in the old West Second Avenue house which was due to be demolished to make way for an industrial project.

Brian Singh, about 70, died from burns shortly after 7 a.m. today.

Gurdas, who had lived here on Garbally Road, had been working in B.C.'s interior the past few months.

He has a brother, Ball, here and another in Port Alberni.

WENNERGREN COMPANY TO IMPORT VOLVO CARS

VANCOUVER (CP)—A new company has been formed by the Wenner-Gren Foundation in British Columbia to import and sell a medium-size Swedish car, the Volvo.

The company is Auto Imports (Swedish) Ltd., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Ltd. Director Leo Hirsch said the Volvo will probably sell for $2,000 to $2,500.

WORK POINT PREPARES FOR MISSILE ERA

Affectionate polishing of a 90 mm. anti-aircraft gun by 4 Light Anti-Aircraft Battery personnel represented end of an era at Work Point today. Future anti-aircraft defence will be by ground-to-air guided missile. At left is Capt. R. M. Callard with Gns. O. L. Barley and J. A. Hazard and Sgt. J. B. Aucoin. Type proposed travel at super-sonic speeds. Larger ones carry atomic warheads, others have high explosive heads. Missiles are electronically controlled. One shown below is a U.S. "Nike."

Ack-Ack Men Cheer Switch To Missiles

Anti-aircraft crews at Esquimalt's Work Point Barracks today hailed Ottawa's decision making them the first guided missile-equipped unit in Canada.

"People from our unit have had training in missiles and I think most of us are happy to get into the field," said Capt. R. M. Callard, second-in-command of 4 Light Anti-Aircraft Battery.

In a major policy announcement by Defence Minister Peakes in Ottawa Tuesday, it was disclosed that the Battery will join other artillery units and its parent First Light Anti-Aircraft Regiment in a missile training program at Picton, Ont., and elsewhere.

The LAA regiment will become the first Canadian army unit to convert to modern, super-sonic anti-aircraft weapons.

"We'll be a little sorry to leave our guns," Capt. Callard said. "We were fond of them and could shoot them rather well."

There are more than 200 men in the local Battery, and about 25 have received introductory courses on guided missiles.

It was not immediately known if 4 Light Battery will be returning to Esquimalt after the course is completed.

Hungary Premier Hits UN Report On Revolution

VIENNA, Austria (Reuters)

—Hungarian Premier Janos Kadar criticized the United Nations Tuesday for preparing its report on Hungary without examining the situation within Hungary itself.

Budapest radio reported. If the United Nations really wanted to "examine" the Hungarian situation, it could have found enough opportunities to do so in the country itself.

The world's first bona fide spaceman, who spent 32 hours exploring the vast reaches along the rim of the stratosphere, emerged from his record-smashing flight dead tired but thrilled with the wonders of the heavens.

Maj. David G. Simons, 35, a lanky air force physician, brought his huge balloon safely to earth near Elm Lake in northern South Dakota Tuesday night.

He had attained an altitude of at least 19 miles during his unprecedented trip.

The space pioneer brought back a tale of being surrounded by a purple sky, even in the daytime, and of observing the stars glowing "like an animal's eyes."

But of even greater importance, Simons proved that man can live for extended periods beyond the shackles of the earth's atmosphere. His ordeal was a major link in experimentation that may some day lead the way to space travel.

Two farm youths were the first to greet the spaceman when he stepped uncertainly but unhurt from the small, aluminum gondola in which he had been sealed since Sunday night.

Simons smiled at them and asked: "Hello, how are you? Where am I?"

Simons was whisked in a helicopter to Fargo, N.D. There he freshened up and telephoned the exciting news to his wife in Alamogordo, N.M., where Simons is stationed.

Speaking briefly with newsmen after his landing Tuesday, Simons said his greatest thrill was "getting back to earth." He said the "capsule (gondola) operated perfectly" during the marathon flight.

Simons said the sky from 19 miles high looks "purple black" even in the daytime.

MARTHA DODD/STERN

Stern Denies Red Spy Allegations

PRAGUE (Reuters)—American stock broker Alfred Stern said Tuesday he and his wife renounced their United States citizenship for Paraguayan nationality two months ago to avoid being deported from Mexico to the United States.

The couple arrived in Prague July 21 via Montreal from Mexico.

In a statement to reporters, Stern dismissed as "fantastic" allegations that he and his wife were Russian agents. His wife is the former Martha Dodd, daughter of the late William E. Dodd, U.S. ambassador to Germany from 1933 to 1938.

Stern said such charges, made before the House of Representatives un-American activities committee by movie producer Boris Morros, were aimed at "furthering the spy hysteria in the United States."

In his statement, Stern said he was briefly associated with Morros in 1944 in a small publishing company.

"I have not seen Morros since 1945—12 years ago," Stern said Morros' accusations were lies and Morros a publicity seeker.

The United States ambassador in Prague, Alexis Johnson, said no action against the Sterns is contemplated.

B.C. HIGHWAY NOT COMPLETE UNTIL 1960

British Columbia does not expect to complete its 685-mile section of the Trans-Canada Highway before 1960.

Most difficult and costly portion remaining is the Rogers Pass route from Golden to Revelstoke, replacing the Big Bend Highway which would be flooded by proposed hydro developments on the Columbia River.

First contracts for the Rogers Pass route have been let this month, but the work season is short because of heavy snows in the Selkirk Mountains.

RCMP Probe Stolen Cheque Ring at Jail

VANCOUVER (CP)—A guard at Oakalla Prison Farm in suburban Burnaby has been suspended following investigation of a stolen cheque racket at the prison.

A prison official said Tuesday the guard is suspected of having cashed stolen cheques on which signatures were forged by a prisoner.

He said the guard was suspended several weeks ago after a number of income tax cheques for prisoners disappeared from the mailing room.

Burnaby RCMP are investigating the possibility that a second guard, suspended earlier for other reasons, was also involved.

Canada Highway Opened in Sask.

REGINA (CP)—The Trans-Canada Highway, once a drawing board dream, today is a major step nearer reality as Saskatchewan becomes the first province to open its section of the projected 4,571-mile road.

With specially engraved silver scissors, given by the Prairie Roadbuilders' Association, Premier T. C. Douglas will cut a ribbon across the newly-completed Regina by-pass, officially opening the 406-mile, $27,000,000 Saskatchewan leg three years before the 1960 deadline.

Immediately following the by-pass ceremony southeast of the city, at which Public Works Minister Howard Green is to represent the federal government, planes from RCAF Station Moose Jaw will sweep over the new black-topped highway in a fly-past.

In the morning horse-drawn slip-scrapers, used to make the province's first roads, together with the latest construction equipment, used in building the new road, will parade through downtown Regina. They will be part of a procession including 36 decorated floats from many parts of Saskatchewan, car loads of visiting officials and 16 bands.

Mr. Green's Warning

WHILE MR. DIEFENBAKER IS quite properly the soul of discretion in discussing or not discussing his election plans, some of his colleagues have been permitting themselves indiscretion that must be calculated.

Thus Mr. Howard Green, minister of public works, predicts that an election will be called "before next July." Since Mr. Green is the senior cabinet minister in parliamentary experience, was acting prime minister in Mr. Diefenbaker's recent absence from Canada, and is a political veteran, his election forecast cannot be taken lightly. Rather it should be regarded as a warning to the Conservative Party throughout the nation to prepare for a campaign next spring. The other parties cannot afford to ignore that warning.

At all events, the schedule is entirely within Mr. Diefenbaker's control and no one can blame him for desiring to end the present parliamentary stalemate by winning a majority, if he can.

Once he has met Parliament in October and secured a vote of confidence, as he certainly will, he can secure a dissolution whenever he desires it. His advice on that score would not be rejected by the Governor-General.

Nevertheless, Mr. Diefenbaker is involved in many complications. If he intends to introduce important legislation in the autumn—old age pension increases and income tax reductions, for example—he cannot expect Parliament to approve his program without serious and probably long consideration. And since he condemns and proposes to repeal the mechanism of closure, he cannot end debate at his own convenience.

Thus the special session is likely to continue until the Christmas holidays.

days. Then, as the regular session begins early in the new year and the Government introduces its basic, long-term policies Parliament will require months at least to consider them.

Again it will be difficult to limit debate when the Conservative Party so vigorously denounced its predecessor for doing so last year.

Yet the final weapon of closure, a dissolution of Parliament, will remain in the Prime Minister's hand and can be used without notice. Mr. Green perhaps is thinking of this possibility or else he hopes that the sessional business can be finished in mid-spring at latest, to permit an election "before next July."

In any case it seems quite evident, and quite natural, that the Diefenbaker Government does not propose to serve for a full parliamentary term of four or five years with a parliamentary minority behind it. That would be bad both for the Government and the nation.

Presumably the only development which could forestall an election some time next year would be such a change in the economic climate—inflationary or deflationary—that the Government feared to meet the hostile electors.

The other parties cannot assume any such possibility. Their only safe assumption is that they must fight a campaign within Mr. Green's timetable, probably by next May or June if not before.

The Conservative Party has been alerted to this prospect and no doubt will act accordingly within its organization from coast to coast. If the Liberal Party intends to hold a convention to consider both its future leadership and policy it should not delay beyond the end of this year or the first days of 1958. It may well be later than some Liberal leaders think.

A Major Community Job

ANNOUNCEMENT THAT THIS year's Community Chest appeal will be for a quarter of a million dollars serves notice that charitable work in Greater Victoria has definitely passed out of the hit-or-miss category. The day is clearly over when a few cents for a tag or a dollar to a doorstep canvasser would cover one's financial and moral obligations for another year.

In adopting a united appeal for 20 of its charities, Greater Victoria has followed the example of many cities on this continent. The single appeal to cover 20 needs has proven by experience to be more economical in administration and more convenient for contributors.

It is important for donors, however, to remember that they are supporting a score of agencies, not just one. A dollar donation represents only five cents towards a year's operation for each one.

Like public or private business, or the citizen's own home, welfare agencies find today's costs mounting. Despite careful, often ruthless, pruning by both agency and Chest officials, the budgets of these groups show increases each year.

In most cases it is not only costs that are rising—the scope of the needed work is widening too. The city is growing larger; there are more children and teenagers, more needy and aged folk to be assisted over rough spots. Our obligations are growing.

Most of us cannot participate directly in such work in our community. We must have someone else do it for us. But we can provide the finances that make it possible.

That will be the appeal of the Community Chest in its campaign a few weeks from now. Past records show that while in many cases the Red Feather appeal has been most generously answered, in many others it has fallen on deaf ears.

Only the individual can decide what he or she will give. It's an important decision for all concerned.

On the Other Hand

SO ACCUSTOMED ARE WE TO the speed of modern technical advance that little excitement is caused by current United States plans to begin construction of an atomic-powered merchant ship. The success of the Nautilus, the world's first atomic-powered submarine, has already made the tamed atom a commonplace thing. Other submarines are rapidly following the original craft down the ways, and now a surface ship driven by controlled nuclear energy seems merely a logical second step.

It is only when one stops to think that even five years ago such a proposal would have seemed overly ambitious, and 10 years ago merely a dream, that the enormity of the change in our way of living becomes obvious.

It takes no great prescience to foresee still greater advances, following upon this American pioneering in mobile atomic engines. Britain is showing similar enterprise in development of stationary power stations, and there is no indication that the rapidity of progress in the atomic field will in any way diminish.

Thus the other facet of the atom—the one that promises mankind abundance rather than annihilation—takes on a greater lustre. It is well to note, in the midst of our anxiety about H-bomb tests and the failure to achieve disarmament agreement, that peace-time use of the atom is moving steadily ahead.

They Learn Quickly

LOU BRISSIE RETURNED TO the United States from combat duty with severe war injuries and a determination to play major league baseball. He overcame his physical handicaps and earned a place on a major league team.

Now he is an unofficial sports ambassador from the U.S. to Australia, where he is trying to develop a higher standard of baseball among the folk "down under." He appears eminently suited for the job and the Australians have displayed their baseball potential in the first game Brissie saw. In it an amateur Australian team beat representatives of a big visiting American carrier, 13 to 3.

Maybe someone should warn Mr. Brissie.

Once the United States, with Johnny Weissmuller, dominated the swimming world. Now Jon Henricks, Lorraine Crapp and a few other young countrymen give that dominance to Australia.

Once the United States, with Bill Tilden and Bill Johnston, dominated tennis. Now the Davis Cup seems to have taken root in Australia.

If Mr. Brissie is successful, how long will it be before we hear a voice with an Australian twang shouting: "Move over, Yankees?"

BACK TO THE BACKWOODS

The Lady Said 'No'

A YOUNG girl from North Carolina, a so-called "Nature Girl," has recently been mentioned in press wire dispatches as the most outstanding phenomenon of the current end-of-season period. I have not yet read a detailed reason for the young lady's newsworthiness.

The fact that she is described as tall and lovely must, of course, be a contributing factor. But physical attributes alone would not necessarily cause such attention. A beautiful girl need not be found barefoot on a backwoods homestead in order to get publicity these days. With the proper measurements and press agent she can step right off Main Street into the continental public eye.

No, there must be other qualities besides pulchritude which distinguish the "Nature Girl," and the name suggests that these are of the mind or personality.

In short, I gather that the new find has been unspooled by civilization, as the old novel writers used to put it. It strikes me as an odd commentary on our civilization that this fact should make her an international celebrity.

Have we reached the point where a girl of unspoiled manner, pleasant appearance, quiet demeanor, unaffected behavior, modest address, has become such a rarity? Has the rock-and-roll type become the standard, and pleasant common sense a nine days wonder?

Step Right Up!

I doubt if that is completely the case. Yet it is apparently a fact that rustic simplicity has become so much a museum piece that this girl was rushed to New York to be shown to the incredulous eyes of two nations. They could not have done much more for a girl from Mars.

Now I am not suggesting that such adulation proves the uniqueness of the Nature Girl. A thousand parents of teen-age daughters will rise and deny it. They will point with pride to their own offspring who fulfil the conditions of simplicity, pleasantness, modesty, etc. listed above.

But I do hold that the standard has changed. For whereas a few years ago the rock-and-roll girl of 16 would have stood out as a freak among the girls of her era, today the Nature Girl stands out as a very strange bird among her contemporaries.

There has been a revolution in our outlook. Will anyone argue that it has produced an improvement?

As a return gift for the pleasure the temporary presence of the North Carolina girl has given us, civilization has offered her the best within its power to bestow—the type of reward which all the girls of civilization strive for and would trade their last boyfriend to attain. She has been offered a part in a Broadway play and two chances to appear on TV. In other words, she has been offered public worship, continental publicity, and money.

From this beginning—the envy of most of the girls in North America—who knows what heights she could reach. Inevitably there would be more TV appearances, and no doubt lucrative endorsement of dozens of products from cigarettes and bathing suits to refrigerators and sports cars.

There would be public appearances at charity affairs. Her face would smile at the world from the covers of magazines, perhaps even from billboards and breakfast cereal boxes. Pocket books would be written on "Romances of the Nature Girl," "The Real Truth About the Nature Girl," and "Did James Dean know the Nature Girl?"

Each bit of publicity would engender another bit, for modern publicity feeds upon itself, and to be known by one million people is in itself sufficient reason to be known by two million, regardless of the original provocation.

All This and . . .

Eventually the highest accolade of our civilization would be bestowed. She would be offered a movie contract and the chance to live in Hollywood in a home too large for her with a swimming pool, and friends of movie stars as neighbors.

Women's garments, both inner and outer, would be named after her. Shop counters would be filled with Nature Girl dolls, lipsticks and roller skates.

Before she was old enough to vote she could contract several interesting marriages and even sing in a night club.

All this she was offered, and more. And what was the reply of this odd child, this unbelievable freak of the North Carolina backwoods? She turned it all down. Yes, sir, she turned it down.

She said she wanted to go back to North Carolina and finish her schooling, maybe even go to college. Said she'd always wanted to learn, ever since having to leave school in the eighth grade, and now it looked like she would be able to.

Ah, well, she had her chance and goofed it. She was shown the glory and she turned her back on it.

Dumb young kid from the backwoods. Don't seem to know what life's all about.

As Our Readers See It

80 Years Ago

An editorial in your paper on Aug. 15 invites comment. It shows where, in our capitalist society, when a strike occurs, it is settled by peaceful means, whereas when such a thing happens behind the iron curtain, as happened in the Polish city of Lodz recently, the strike is suppressed by force.

This is supposed to highlight a contrast between two ways of life. What it does is to illustrate the identity of one way of life, in two different parts of the world, a way of life that involves capitalists and workers.

When capital can use unions in its own interests, it doesn't oppose them very much, either in the U.S.S.R. or in the U.S. But it doesn't matter whether the employer speaks Russian and drinks vodka or speaks Alabamese and drinks bourbon, when the unions tramp upon his toes too much he will use the forces of the state, if necessary, to preserve his interests.

Roll back the calendar to the year 1877, when the U.S. was in the depths of a depression, when dividends to stockholders were high and wage cuts often in the railroad industry. Resistance to pay cuts took the form of strikes to such an extent that traffic was severely tied up and eventually federal troops were called in. Result, considerable riots and bloodshed, and of course, the pay cuts.

There's no more Communism in Moscow than there is in New York actually; under the historical and ideological skin their "way of life" is the same animal as we have here.

Fact or Fiction?

Very many people will no doubt be intensely interested in the novel by Nevil Shute, viz. "On The Beach," installments of which are now appearing in current copies of "Weekend" published by the Victoria Daily Times.

Readers will, I suppose be divided into three categories. First those who will scoff and say "impossible"; second those who will say "this can't happen to us." Third, those who will say "Well, we have four years to prepare anyhow."

But it is quite possible that all could be in error. Common sense tells us that all the signs are present with us now telling us that it could happen this fall and continue on well into the year 1958.

Please remember that Russia will not strike at its own appointed time, but will be forced to strike before it is ready, through interneine warfare.

How do I know? There is a Book easy to obtain which explains this very clearly and this Book was written thousands of years ago.

Farmer's Position

One of your letter correspondents writes a keen piece about what he terms "the shrinking role of agriculture in the nation's economy."

There are, of course, aspects of truth in the above conclusion, such as the fact that there are today (according to the DBS at Ottawa) 575,000 farms across Canada compared to 733,000 as recently as the 1941 Census—while, on the other side of the ledger, the numbers of gainfully employed Canadians in town and city have been moving skyward?

Nonetheless, I think that the following few lines, from my farm paper, deal pretty accurately with the assumption that, simply because we have more mouths around the nation's dinner-tables and fewer farmers to feed them, therefore, all's well and fair with our rural brethren's cash revenues; so I send them along to the spotlight:

"The 1956 net income of $1,573,000,000 for Canadian agriculture was scarcely above the 10-year level of $1,531,000,000. In the same period, according to the experts, the value of the Canadian dollar depreciated by about 35 percent. In other words, if the farmer is to be as well off today as he was a decade back, he must have 35 per cent more income. Then, too, it has to be remembered that the above net income total for 1956 included a $170,000,000 increase in inventory, the great bulk of it in the form of grain in the prairie provinces."

Biting Comment

There is a gulf of difference between your excerpt from Time Magazine quoting Statistician Louis Israel Dublin on fluoridation and the following from National Fluoridation News, dedicated to "factual reporting," which reads—

"The significant part of Statistician Dublin's 8,000 word pamphlet (See Time 7:22:57): it does not deal with statistics. It repeats the Public Health Service claims; does not attempt to answer the critiques of Mr. K. K. Paluv and Dr. Chas. Dillon.

Has Victoria reached the state in which it can epitomize the easy-going idle rich? It would appear so from the report in "Time" Aug. 19. ### Here and There

Pondering over your editorial in Aug. 15 issue captioned "Strike Settlement—Red Style," re the recent effort of workers in the Polish city of Lodz showed plainly who is in the driver's seat holding the lines:

I recall a phrase which emanated from Russia about 30 years ago, viz. "Workers of the world unite, all you stand to lose is your chains."

Sounds very hollow when overshadowed by the ruthless action of the Communists in Hungary and Poland, but how it should register with labor unions here in the democracies where we enjoy so much.

I hope it dawns on us before it is too late.

An Ugly Situation

IT begins to look as though an old prophecy by President Eisenhower is belatedly coming true. In 1954, the President warned that the election of a Democratic Congress would result in "uncertainty, confusion, and divided responsibility." In fact, until rather recently, the President has lived rather more happily with the Democratic 84th and 85th Congresses than he did with the Republican 83rd Congress. But that is no longer so. As the President's desperate threat to call a special session to save his foreign aid program suggests, the present relationship between Congress and the White House is indeed one of uncertainty, confusion, and divided responsibility.

There are a lot of reasons for this. But the most important reason is the present mood of the Democrats in Congress. By and large, they are disgruntled, fed up, frustrated, and enraged. Three examples will serve to suggest why this is so.

Take, as example number one, the case of Democratic Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson.

Last year, Johnson almost single-handedly saved the President's foreign aid program. His own vote on the Appropriations Committee provided a majority of one for the President's program, and thereafter Johnson worked his special magic to swing nine votes the President's way.

Johnson is exceedingly unlikely to do the same thing again. He is genuinely convinced that the civil rights bill, passed by the Senate largely as a result of his own herculean efforts, is a good and fair bill. He is equally convinced that the administration has adopted the strategy of prolonging the civil rights battle in order to make political hay out of the issue in 1958.

In the circumstances, as one of Johnson's friends put it, "Why in the devil should Lyndon stick his neck out for Ike?"

As example number two, take the sad case of Sen. Richard Neuberger of Oregon.

Neuberger is a leftwing Democrat from a normally Republican state, which makes his political position touchy to begin with. He is also an internationalist, and he has consistently supported the President on such matters as foreign aid, reciprocal trade, the U.S. Information Agency, and defence appropriations.

According to the Congressional Quarterly, Neuberger has supported the President on thirteen out of seventeen key issues on which the President has taken a stand. This is one of the highest records of presidential support in the Senate.

And what is Neuberger's record? Using the Congressional Quarterly statistics, Oregon's Republican State Chairman James Short attacks Neuberger for his "appalling" record of "disregard for the demands of the people for economy."

Neuberger has sent an anguished protest to Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn, but the protest seems unlikely to do him much good.

At any rate, Neuberger's sad story is by no means unusual, and the moral is not lost on the Democrats: Support the President on issues like foreign aid, and get your teeth kicked by the Republicans back home.

Or take, as example number three, the case of Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri.

Fearful Gamble

When the House heavily cut the President's defence budget, the President went on the air to say that to fail to restore a substantial part of the cut would mean taking a "fearful gamble" with the national security. Symington led the fight in the Senate, on the Democratic side, to get the President what he wanted, and largely succeeded.

Then, when the Senate-House conference on the defence budget met, Secretary of Defence Wilson and Budget Chief Brundage blandly informed the conference that the amount Symington had fought to restore was not really necessary after all.

Symington, who has been much criticized back home as a heavy spender, thus had the rug neatly pulled out from under him. As a result, he is seriously considering voting against foreign military aid, for the first time in his Senate career.

These three examples — and more could be cited — should be enough to suggest why the Democratic majorities in Congress now take a special delight in defying the President on such issues as foreign aid. The President's threat to call a special session has further disgruntled the Democrats.

Pretty Rough

"If His Majesty wants to play it rough," one Democrat grimly remarked, "He'll find that His Majesty's loyal opposition can play pretty rough too."

Altogether, an ugly situation is developing. When the White House and the Congress are controlled by different parties there is always the danger of something worse than uncertainty and confusion — a kind of angry paralysis of the processes of government. That danger is now real, and it is to be hoped that the President recognizes it, and is prepared to deal with it.

Financing the UNEF

NEW YORK—One of the things the forthcoming session of the General Assembly will be taking up is the status of the United Nations Emergency Force, which was born in the strife of last November and since that time has helped to keep the peace in the Gaza Strip and along the borders between Israel and Egypt.

There has never been any time limit on the UNEF's period of service, and it is unlikely that the Assembly will hear any suggestion that the force be broken up, unless Egypt should decide to press for such a move. Most of the debate probably will centre around the financial arrangements for the force, which as things stand place a greater burden upon the contributing nations than upon the rest of the membership of the United Nations.

The strength of the force stands at around 6,000 officers and men. Ten countries contribute, and the contingents vary in strength. There are 1,180 Canadians, 530 Brazilians, 520 Colombians, 430 Danes, 250 Finns, 970 Indians, 580 Indonesians, 480 Norwegians, 350 Swedes and 680 Yugoslavs.

The composition of the force has not changed for several months—troops being rotated have been replaced by men with similar qualifications and training. UN officials regard the force as a happy example of what can be achieved through international co-operation, and they are high in their praise of the force commander, Canada's Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns.

TACTICAL POSITIONS

In the Gaza Strip, the area northeast of the armistice demarcation line, is manned by the Danish-Norwegian battalion, joined recently by the Finnish company.

The Indian and Colombian battalions are deployed in the central sector of the Gaza frontier, while Rafah and the extreme southwestern area are the responsibility of the Brazilian and Indonesian battalions. All these units occupy tactical positions in their sectors.

tors, and man special observation posts along the demarcation line.

General Burns has his headquarters in Gaza city, which also houses the Norwegian field hospital and the Swedish UNEF battalion.

The Yugoslav reconnaissance battalion is outside the Gaza Strip, with headquarters at El Arish. The battalion maintains four outposts on the demarcation line, and is also responsible for patrolling the international frontier outside the Gaza Strip from Rafah to a point about one-third of the distance to the Gulf of Aqaba.

The Canadian Reconnaissance Squadron patrols the frontier from the Yugoslav sector to the south, and maintains outposts at several points. South of the Canadians, one Swedish rifle company is stationed in the Sharm El-Sheikh area, with an outpost at Ras Nasrani, looking over the Strait of Tiran—the narrow channel into the Gulf of Aqaba. This Swedish company is interchanged regularly with the other Swedish rifle company camped near Gaza City.

The most desolate of all the outposts is probably the Swedish one at Sharm-El-Sheikh—recently a party of the Swedes drove nine hours across the desert to the ancient monastery of St. Catherine's with their chaplain, in order to hold a Holy Communion service within the monastery walls. The eleven bearded Greek Orthodox monks of the monastery not only provided facilities, but took part in the service.

Rotation of officers and men from the Danish, Finnish, Norwegian, Swedish and Yugoslav contingents of UNEF was completed last month (July). Almost, the entire Colombian battalion is now being rotated by air, 50 men at a time, and this movement will be completed by the end of August.

In the case of the Brazilian battalion, some 300 officers and men are being rotated, or a little over one-half of the total strength, and the replacements were brought to Port Said aboard a Brazilian naval troopship.

Arrangements have been concluded for the rotation by the Canadian contingents, which will be carried out by sea and air during the month of September.

Saucy Postcards

LONDON—Crisis in England's dirty postcard business . . .

Unlike other countries, where they are sold on the quiet, off-color postcards in England are sold quite openly.

Main outlets are at seaside resorts, and so crude are they that I couldn't describe one or The Times would at once be hauled up for publishing obscene matter.

Yet holiday-makers send them through the mails in this country with no trouble at all. Up until now, that is.

The watch committees of various seaside resorts (whose job it is to safeguard propriety) have launched an all-out attack on the saucy postcards. Manufacturers are being brought into court all over the country and they're getting convictions of indecency against them.

It has become such a matter of concern for those who make money out of the postcards that they have formed a Comic Postcard Fighting Fund.

The clean-up campaign has hit the makers so hard that only one of the six leading firms in the industry look like continuing to publish the smut cards. Two firms are toning theirs down to the unobjectionable point and the other three will probably switch to harmless seaside "views."

Those behind the Comic Postcard Fighting Fund say they have no objection to censorship and will gladly submit to it—provided it is on a national instead of the present local basis.

As things stand now they have to contend with more than 300 censors—the number of watch committees spread around the country. Provided two people complain about a card the police are bound to take action and people from the watch committee go around the postcard racks in pairs hunting for ones on which they think they can get a conviction.

Strangely enough, the most puritan of all England's holiday resorts is Blackpool. To try to avoid having to fight court cases all over the place manufacturers submitted 162 to watch committees everywhere and the place that's supposed to be hawdy Blackpool turned down the highest number of them.

Second most particular was the Isle of Wight. The resort that was prepared to pass most of the cards was Yarmouth, with Ramsgate and Folkestone the next most tolerant.

It all boils down to the fact that what is regarded as indecent is a matter of opinion. The convictions have shown that what one local court regards as a postcard that calls for a heavy fine and confiscation of stocks, another court dismisses as not indecent.

Book publishers operate under the same system of local censorship and for them a local banning has the advantage of boosted sales in the rest of the country. But for the postcard makers it is merely an annoying hindrance to carrying on business. Give us national censorship like films, they say, and then we'll know where we stand.

And so the fight goes on over something as traditional as the English seaside as "Any more for the Skylark?"

Fall Perennials In Hurry to Bloom

Many of the fall flowering perennials have stolen a march on us this year by coming into bloom by late July.

We shall, however, continue thinking of them as fall plants, and give them a chance to re-assume their normal flowering period in later years.

One of the fine border plants in true fall color is montbretia, or Tritonia crocea-maeflora, a glowing orange starry blossom in sprays on slender stems. The leaves are like narrow gladiolus leaves, and the roots resemble the corms of gladiolus, only smaller.

This plant is perfectly hardy, but needs dividing about every three years. Other varieties in other colors are not reliably hardy in exposed gardens, but are certainly worth growing. Harmonizing with the warm orange of this montbretia may be the tall Heliosis patula, a sunflower type growing to about five feet. The flowers last unbelievably long on the plant, some being tagged and dated for seven weeks before the color faded.

Shades of pink and pale blue should be kept away from the above orange color, but scarlet gladiolus might be used successfully if their stems could be hidden, or scarlet bush type dahlias. The latter would give a longer season of bloom.

Helonius and rudbeckias in endless shades of gold, orange and rust are other plants which will add beauty to the late summer and fall garden.

Plumes of milky white Artemisia lactiflora, faintly vanilla scented, and reaching six feet tall, will combine with pink and blue in the fall border.

Butter Stockpile Shows Decrease

OTTAWA (CP)—Creamery butter stocks in nine Canadian cities at Aug. 15 declined 36 per cent to 46,433,000 pounds from 72,147,000 on the corresponding date a year ago, the bureau of statistics said today.

Stocks were smaller this year than last in all cities except Edmonton, Calgary and Vancouver. Total stocks by cities, with last year's figures in brackets: Quebec, 4,684,000 pounds (5,144,000); Montreal, 26,273,000 (38,309,000); Toronto, 1,587,000 (6,557,000); Winnipeg, 5,754,000 (16,452,000); Regina, 720,000 (1,004,000); Saskatoon, 897,000 (1,116,000); Edmonton, 2,620,000 (1,372,000); Calgary, 2,300,000 (902,000); and Vancouver, 1,598,000 (1,291,000).

Russ Arms Aid 'Propaganda'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Admiral Arthur Radford has told U.S. senators Russia is glutting some Middle East countries with arms they can't use, just to impress the populations with Communist willingness to aid them.

Russians" would have to be moved in to fly the planes and man the tanks.

Radford's statements, and a denunciation by State Secretary Dulles of Soviet policy as "consistently ruthless," came to light in testimony the two officials gave Monday at a closed session of the Senate appropriations committee.

Radford named the countries involved, but said the information is classified.

Arguing for restoration of foreign aid funds cut by the House of Representatives, Radford said long negotiations are needed to reach agreements with allies for the furnishing of military equipment.

Critical Stage Reached In Construction Talks

Heavy Construction Association of B.C. and two unions were to meet in Vancouver today to attempt settlement of disputes that could shut down several large construction projects on Vancouver Island.

Months-long negotiations between the association and Local 115 of the International Union of Operating Engineers and the Construction and General Laborers' Union have entered the critical stage.

Up to 6,500 men across the province are involved in the two disputes, including some 1,700 on the Island.

A strike in either dispute

Four-to-One in Favor of Strike

The operating engineers, including 500 on the Island, voted 4-to-1 in favor of a strike in a government-supervised vote counted Monday in Vancouver. No strike deadline has been issued by IUOE but it may be set at a policy committee meeting Friday in Vancouver.

The CGLU, which has 1,200 members on the Island, is deadlocked with the association but has not asked for a strike vote yet.

The IUOE rejected a unanimous conciliation board report recommending a retroactive increase of 8 per cent to May 1 and a further increase of 7 per cent April 1, 1958. The union asked for 20 per cent this year.

It also wants board allowance raised from $2 to $4 a day and overtime pay arrangements for various jobs written into the agreement. Current wage schedule runs from a low of $1.85 to a high of $2.63.

The majority conciliation report on the CGLU dispute recommended retroactive increases to May 15 of 8 per cent for laborers and 10 per cent for rock and tunnel workers. A further increase of 7 and 9 per cent, respectively, was recommended for March 1, 1958.

The union wants implementation of a minority report recommending an immediate 15-cent increase with an additional seven cents added Oct. 1, for MSA purposes and another 14 cents April 1, 1958. Basic wage now is $1.68 an hour.

Contract negotiations also are under way between the association and the teamsters' and ironworkers' unions.

Hospital Life Top Production To Liz Taylor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Actress Elizabeth Taylor left Harkness Pavilion Monday night in high style. She decided that she had been "sick long enough."

Miss Taylor, escorted by her husband, producer Mike Todd, said her prematurely-born daughter, who remained in the hospital, was "just wonderful." The actress, who gave birth to the girl Aug. 6, said she decided Monday night, "I want to go home. I thought I was sick long enough."

Todd said, "she bothers the doctor to get what she wants. The doctor should take anti-Elizabeth shots."

Miss Taylor, dressed in a flowing white house coat, was wheeled to the hospital lobby.

TORONTO (CP)—A St. Michael's Hospital official said today that 11 Boy Scouts stricken by influenza while en route to their Canadian homes from the world scout jamboree in England are "in fine shape."

The boys, nearly all from Winnipeg and Saskatchewan, are in isolation while doctors try to determine what type of flu they have. They hope to have a diagnosis by Friday.

She Sold Playmates' Secrets

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Another Hollywood figure has testified in the criminal libel trial of "Confidential" that she sold her alleged playmates' secret to the scandal magazine.

Gloria Wellman, 33, adopted daughter of movie director William Wellman, said Tuesday she was paid a total of $650 for three stories.

She identified only one of the stories—a tale about a supposed party at the home of actor John Carroll in 1947.

Miss Wellman testified that she was one of six girls at the soiree. Others present, she said, included actor Forrest Tucker and the late band leader, Jimmy I. sey.

She said she and two other girls, whom she identified as models, went to an upstairs bedroom to meet Carroll.

"Carroll was in the bed and other and $150 for a third. Defence counsel Arthur J. Crowley expected to call a Georgia state legislator, John D. Odom, as a witness today.

Crowley said Odom was the author of "Confidential", but had not written expose stories about individuals.

GOATS BECOME SATYRS AFTER DRINK OF WINE

VENTIMIGLIA, Italy (Reuters)—Three drunken goats butted into a prize-giving ceremony in the village square Tuesday following an annual international art competition. The goats were included among the prizes—so were several 22-gallon jars of the district's notoriously potent wine.

The traditional public dance was in full swing. Local farmers, Italian and foreign tourists and painters were enjoying the revels when an artist decided the goats were thirsty. He helped them to a jar of the prize wine.

The goats suddenly went wild and rampaged around the square, horns lowered, putting the happy throng to flight.

As their drunkenness wore off the goats' usual sedateness returned, and celebrations resumed.

NO COST otherwise as your money will be cheerfully refunded if you are not 100% pleased. Ask at any drug store for Hem-Roid Internal Pile Treatment.

Attacker Eats as Victim Dies

CHICAGO (AP) — Police said a drunken customer struck a barbecue stand operator, then finished an order of spareribs as his victim lay dying.

The scene was enacted Monday night at the Hickory Pit barbecue on Chicago's south-west side.

Leo Fitzpatrick, 23, the victim, died Tuesday.

Mrs. Mary Fitzpatrick said her son ordered the customer from the premises when he began to eat an order of barbecued ribs.

"Leo told him we didn't have a restaurant licence and that he would have to take the food home to eat," the mother told police.

"I heard a thud," she said.

"My son was lying on the floor."

Officers later questioned Michael McNicholas, 47, a husky laborer, and said Mrs. Fitzpatrick identified him as the man who struck her son. McNicholas was held without formal charge.

"He needs some time to sober up," police said.

Sprint Star May Settle In Canada

VANCOUVER (CP) — Trinidad's Mike Agostini, one of the world's great sprinters, may represent Canada in the 1958 British Empire Games at Cardiff, Wales.

In Vancouver awaiting plane fare home to attend a meet in Trinidad, Agostini said Monday he would have to clear matters with the Trinidad Athletic Association before the Canadian Association could make a formal application for his release.

"I would then return to Canada as a landed immigrant and it would just be a matter of six months residence in Vancouver before the B.C. trials and I would be eligible to compete," Agostini is trying now to figure out how he can get to Trinidad. He probably will hitch-hike to Florida from Toronto and fly to Trinidad from there.

He plans later to settle in Vancouver.

Grid Experts Fooled Again

BY BRITISH UNITED PRESS

Eastern Canadian Football experts, who predicted that the Montreal Alouettes and Hamilton Tiger-Cats would battle it out for the Big Four championship with the Ottawa Rough Riders and Toronto Argonauts taking what's left, were taking a second look at their crystal balls following Tuesday's league openers.

The Alouettes kicked things off by beating the Argonauts in Montreal, but their narrow 29-28 victory lent little evidence to their supposed overwhelming superiority over Toronto.

At that, they went one better than the Tiger-Cats. The Hamilton crew dropped their opener to Ottawa 20-7 and looked very unimpressive in their seasonal debut at Lansdowne Park.

The Als-Argos game, a twilight affair at Molson Stadium, was a pass-filled thriller that had the 21,632 fans in attendance on the edge of their seats from start to finish. Running plays were used strictly as a last resort as the Als' Sam Etcheberry and Toronto's Tom Dubinski fired a total of 79 passes. Seven of the eight touchdowns scored were through the air.

Hal Patterson, Red O'Quinn and Pete Karpuk scored Montreal touchdowns on pass plays, while veteran lineman Herb Trawick got the fourth major, scooping up a blocked kick on the Toronto 12 and going all the way. Bill Bewley converted four and new import tackle Bill Hudson was credited with the other Alouette point.

Freshman end Art Powell of San Jose State paced the Argonaut attack, scoring two touchdowns. Boyd Carter and O'Gara counted the other two of four convert tries, which spelled the margin of victory for the Als. Reg Meserve completed the Argos scoring with two singles.

Frank Clair's Rough Riders showed little regard for the highly-rated Tiger-Cats.

Rider quarterback Hal Ledyard, a doubtful quantity in the minds of many Ottawa fans, played his best game since joining the club last season. He picked up 309 yards on 17 completed passes in 29 attempts.

Import Tom Lewis, with the club in 1956, and New Americans Bob Judd and George Brancato scored the Ottawa majors, two of which were converted by homebrew Gary Schreider. Billy Graham, up with the Ticats after winning the ORFU scoring championship last year, took a 19-yard pass for the losers' lone major and kicked the convert himself.

Victorians' Movie Tastes Different?

By PHIL LEE
Times Movie Reviewer

When it comes to motion pictures are Victorians harder to please than Vancouverites or audiences from the rest of Canada?

For instance, one of the best musicals seen here this year or any other year was "Oklahoma!" In Toronto it played 70 consecutive weeks in one theatre. In Victoria it lasted barely two.

This is only one example. There are many others of movies which attract solid audiences from across the country and the U.S. and meet with poor to fair response here.

Some say that Victorians care more for their gardens and roses than they do for entertainment. Others point out that Victorians are inundated with more TV channels than any other single area in the dominion and have become some sort of 20th century ostrich, burying their eyes in the family television set, thoroughly convinced that what they are seeing is the best in entertainment because that is all they will let themselves see.

Actually they are not. Since the beginning of the year most TV fans will concede that the home offerings as a whole have slipped compared to what was shown during the previous six months or year. On the other hand, the motion picture industry, fighting back from near oblivion, has turned out a higher proportion of hits and near hits since the beginning of 1957 than it has in years.

There was "Giant," the great sprawling picture of Edna Ferber's Texas for which director George Stevens won his Oscar; the unforgettable "The King and I" which earned Yul Brynner a statuette, and "Anastasia" which did the same for Ingrid Bergman.

There was the gently funny "Teahouse of the August Moon," Kirk Douglas' "Lust for Life" which won Anthony Quinn a supporting Oscar. Of course there was "Baby Doll" which B.C. censors wouldn't let anyone see and the "best picture of 1956," "Around the World in 80 Days" which won't be seen here until someone allows it to be re-filmed in CinemaScope. It is currently filmed in the local theatre is equipped to handle it, although it opens in Vancouver on August 21.

But those were last year's pictures. What about those which made their first brave bow in 1957?

'12 Angry Men' Among Best

There have been magnificent dramas, possibly the best among them Henry Fonda's "12 Angry Men." Then there was the story of Lucky Lindy, "The Spirit of St. Louis," England's Douglas Bader story, "Reach for the Sky," the Cecil B. DeMille epic which has completed a four-week run here, "The Ten Commandments."

Then there was the story of baseball's Jim Piersall "Fear Strikes Out," with young Anthony Perkins who won raves for his fine work in one of the most delightful pictures of the year, "Friendly Persuasion." There were rip-snorting shockers such as "Sweet Smell of Success" and "A Face in the Crowd."

In the past few months there have been pictures "with a difference," such as Bob Hope's effort to reconstruct the life of New York's late mayor Jimmy Walker, "Beau James." There were England's fine naval epics, "The Battle of the River Plate" and "Battle of Britain" wherein the brave HMS Amethyst sailed up the Yangtze river again with Richard Todd in command.

There have been gay pictures, full of laughter and charm, such as the Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn starrer, "Desk Set," Judy Holliday's brilliant "Full of Life," wherein no doubt famed opera basso Salvatore Baccaloni will be nominated for a supporting Oscar. There was the off-beat "The Rainmaker" with Burt Lancaster and Katharine Hepburn, the gay, frothy "Little Hut," and "Bernadine" which doubtless will give 1957 a new Bing Crosby in a handsome, modest-looking young man named Pat Boone.

Then, of course, there was Marilyn Monroe caught playing well with "pros" Sir Laurence Olivier and Dame Sybil Thorndyke in "The Prince and the Showgirl." There was one of the most gorgeously photographed pictures ever made, "Island in the Sun," and a western that can take its place among the best in the past five years, "Gunfight at the OK Corral." There was a sneaker called "Heaven Knows, Mr. Allison," with Robert Mitchum and Deborah Kerr that was sheer enchantment. There was one of the best science-fiction pieces of any year, the amazing "The Incredible Shrinking Man."

No one legitimately can blame Victorians for not turning out to see such good motion pictures as these in the numbers they used to, however. For, in addition to being TV ostriches they are something of an elephant, too. They can't forget.

How Can They Forget Bad Ones?

They can't forget the putrid pictures purveyed by the industry in the immediate postwar, pre-TV days, pictures, sold to them as gold which turned out to be unadulterated brass. How can they forget them? They are to be seen almost every night on their TV sets—for free.

They remember the days when they had to wear glasses to see 3-D, the lowest form of motion picture ever conceived. They remember trying to learn the names of each and every type of new screen as it came out, from CinemaScope to VistaVision—and now its Cinerama and Todd-AO. Unfortunately, they also remember the policy of premium prices. If the picture was supposed to be good they were charged more. But if it was bad they were charged no less.

Of course, Victorians were not alone in their memories. Together with citizens from most of North America's TV-conscious they succeeded in scaring the pants off the industry. The star system was mostly discarded by the major studios in face of the fast-sliding box office.

"Names" of the industry, the Clark Gables, the Burt Lancasters and the Cary Grants are now free-lancers. Either they produce and star in their own pictures or they star for someone else with a pledged slice of the gross. Motion picture studios such as M-G-M, Columbia, Paramount and 20th Century-Fox hurriedly began reaping the whirlwind by selling huge backlogs of old films to their chief competitor, and now appear to be joining the junior industry rather than fighting it. More and more of the big studios are actively engaged in making films for TV—everything from dramas to jingles.

Meanwhile, however, there are significant omens that the industry is on the verge of making a comeback. Optimism is based on four major changes—pictures are getting better and more good pictures are being produced. Everyone is getting pretty much used to TV and are looking elsewhere for entertainment. And—most important of all—the elephant is apparently willing to forgive if not forget.

Andy will answer questions submitted by club readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Margaret Dean, aged 13, of Deroche, B.C., for her question:

How Does a Mosquito Sting?

The mosquito is the well drilled of the insect world. However, instead of drilling for oil or water, the nasty little pest drills for fresh red blood. Mr. Mosquito is content with drilling for fruit and plant juices. He has to settle for such food because he does not have the proper equipment to pierce animal or human skin. Mrs. Mosquito has sharper drilling tools. She can and does gorge herself on the fresh blood of frogs, dogs, bears, birds and, of course, human beings. Mr. Mosquito cannot sting us, nor can he buzz his wings like angry airplanes. But take warning when you hear Mrs. Mosquito's whirring wings. She is after blood—your blood.

Nature has fitted the mosquito with a perfect midget tool kit. It is carried in the beak, which is a long, slender sort of nose. The tools are sheathed in a well-fitting bag of soft skin which is really the mosquito's lower lip. Inside the cover are six long neat tools, a pair of saws, a pair of lancets, a syringe and a siphon. The beak tool kit is flanked by a pair of sensitive feelers. And in the mosquito's head, placed where they can see and supervise the drilling operation, is a pair of compound eyes.

We are not strictly correct when we say we have been bitten by a mosquito. For the bloodthirsty little monsters have no teeth. The damage is done with a tool kit and a stinging fluid which is injected into our flesh. Since Mrs. Mosquito is our enemy, let's watch her manoeuvre.

She zooms around searching for the soft flesh of an animal or human being. She has senses which tell her where blood is buried beneath the skin. Ah! she has found a target—your arm. If you fail to spot her, she will go to work. She performs her operation so gently that you are not likely to feel a thing until the bump starts to itch or sting.

First she uses the sensitive feelers on either side of the beak. She is feeling for a soft place to start drilling operations. When she decides on a spot, she lets down her tool kit. The tip of the beak acts as a guide for the tools inside. A pair of saws and lancets begin the delicate job of piercing the skin. As they pierce down into the flesh the tool kit cover rolls up like a stocking.

Under our skin, the flesh is meshed with tiny capillaries. The drilling tools seek out one of these, for it carries red blood. One syringe now goes to work. A little drop of liquid is injected into the flesh. This liquid is manufactured by the mosquito to keep the blood from clotting. When exposed to the air, as you know, blood clots and becomes lumpy. Mrs. Mosquito must have her blood fresh and liquid or she could not suck it up through her siphon.

***
Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Christopher Holzer, age 12, of El Cajon, California, for his question:

What do insects do for bones?

Our bones form a central skeleton. Muscles and flesh are fixed onto them and cover them from view. We can contract or relax our muscles as we choose. As we contract the arm muscles, the elbow joint bends, as we relax those muscles, the joint straightens out.

Insects have no inside bones. Yet they manage to bend their joints just the same. Instead of having a bony skeleton, their soft insides are encased in a hard covering. Not only does this tough covering protect the insides, it acts as our bones act. Muscles are attached to the inside of the insect's tough hide. The joints are rings of softer, leathery material in the hard armor. Muscles straddle these joints and the insect can relax or contract these muscles, much as we can.

As the insect contracts his muscles, the joint is forced to bend. As he relaxes the muscles, a joint straightens out again. The bony system of the insect is fine for small bodies. For that reason we do not find insects to be large creatures.

Ottawa Lawns Turned Brown By Drought

OTTAWA (CP)—Gardeners are pouring hundreds of tons of water daily on the spacious lawns of Parliament Hill in an apparently unsuccessful effort to prevent them from turning brown.

Lawns throughout the city have been dried up by a drought now in its second month in Eastern Ontario. A $1,000,000 farm-crop loss for the Ottawa Valley is forecast unless a 48-hour rain comes within the next few days.

SWAPS HIS DOWNFALL

Jail Dream Bears Ill Fruit to Briton

PORTSMOUTH, England (UP)—Alan Haines, 24, spent his jail sentence dreaming of a big new car and of having plenty of pocket money.

So when he was released he set to work to make the dream a reality. He got a job and his employer advanced him $56.

He used this as a deposit on an $187.60 motorcycle.

Then he used the $187.60

motorcycle as a deposit on a $361.20 motorcycle.

Then he used the $361.20 motorcycle as a deposit on a $683.20 car. Then he swapped the $683.20 car in on an $850 one.

Then he took the $850 car and swapped it for a cheaper one and pocketed the $70 difference for spending money.

He's back in jail, now.

Festival Audience Gives Britten Mixed Reception

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP)—Benjamin Britten's eerie operatic takeoff on Henry James' ghost, "The Turn of the Screw," got a mixed reaction Tuesday night from a capacity audience. It was a North American premiere for the opera, presented as part of the Shakespearean festival's third annual music season. Earlier musical offerings have run the range from symphony to jazz. The concert series winds up tonight with a concert by the CBC Symphony Orchestra under Thomas Mayer, director of the Ottawa Philharmonic Orchestra. The "Screw," conducted by the composer and therefore eligible for consideration of what he and his associates had in mind in putting this ghost story to "music," followed labored pace in the first act but warmed up considerably, and almost tunefully, in the second.

Actress Taken To Prison Ward After Collapse

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Actress Gail Russell, 32, was found unconscious Tuesday night beside a half-finished highball on the bathroom floor of her home, the sheriff's office reported.

The actress was taken to the prison ward of Los Angeles general hospital where she was booked on a felony warrant charging failure to appear for arraignment on drunk driving charges. She had been scheduled to appear in court on charges she was intoxicated when she allegedly drove her car through the window of a restaurant last July 4. Miss Russell, following the accident in which a janitor was hurt, told a judge she would "never take another drink." Officers said they didn't believe the actress attempted suicide; "she probably just had a little too much to drink," they said.

Art Committee of 15 To Attend Conference

VANCOUVER (CP)—A committee of 15 music, art and drama people will be chosen next week to study recommendations made by the B.C. arts resources conference in Vancouver Saturday.

The steering committee will function as a prototype of a provincial arts council. The conference recommendations included: establishment of grants and scholarships for those interested in cultivating the arts; a teaching and training centre in the arts at the University of B.C.; appointment by the government of a director of music at Victoria and each of B.C.'s school districts.

CBC Strife Near Blow-Up Stage

MONTREAL (CP)—Simmering discontent among the CBC's television craftsmen here may come to a boil after a grievance meeting in Ottawa Sept. 5.

The grievance, described as a test case, concerns the firing of two union members. It will be discussed by representatives of the Montreal local of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and Motion Picture Operators (IATSE) and representatives of the CBC's national executive.

Executives of the Montreal local say they will call a strike if the CBC does not deal with the grievance under terms of an old working agreement. A meeting of 200 of the Montreal local's more than 600 members earlier this month authorized a walkout at any time.

NATIONAL SUPPORT
The Montreal local says it could count on support from Halifax, Ottawa, Winnipeg and Vancouver in strike action. The IATSE represents carpenters, painters, graphic designers, wardrobe mistresses, stagehands, film editors and other craftsmen.

A country-wide strike could force a shutdown of CBC television operations. The disputed contract was scheduled to expire last May 31. Negotiations for a new one were suspended pending settlement of internal troubles in the IATSE.

The IATSE claims it has a letter from the federal labor department conciliation officer who ordered the suspension saying the old contract is to continue in force until a new one can be negotiated. The CBC claims no contract exists. It has been holding

Lakefront Reserves Backed

Recreation Minister Earle Westwood said Tuesday his department is "watching very closely" encroachment of lakefront property throughout the province.

A parkland reserve to preserve B.C. lakes for public enjoyment would be "certainly a good idea in some areas."

Mr. Westwood, who disclosed recently that the government will place a map reserve on the B.C. coastline, said he has not yet closely examined the question of a general reserve on lakes.

However, he said, members of his newly-formed department are keeping close behind road development in the Interior and examining possible park sites as new lakes and districts become accessible.

In urging the lakefront reserves, some persons have pointed out that an increasing number of private individuals are buying up choice spots for summer homes.

NO LIONS IN AFRICA? ZOO SUPPLIES ANSWER

LONDON (UP) — Nathaniel Nuno, 13, a Boy Scout from Ghana, went to London Zoo Tuesday to look at the lions.

"I had my leg pulled so much about never having seen a lion that I had to go to the zoo before returning to Africa," he explained.

Culture Council Boosts Scholarships to $5,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Record-rich took the wraps off its plans to pump culture into Canada. In addition Canada has established her first permanent national body to link efforts with other countries to work in the field of cultural development through the United Nations.

The 25-member national commission, to link up with the UN Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, will be headed by Dr. Norman A. MacKenzie, 63-year-old president of the University of British Columbia.

Dr. MacKenzie is a member of the Canada Council which announced the formation.

The membership will be widely representative, including labor representation.

Previously Canada's relations with UNESCO were channelled through the external affairs department. The department will continue to do this job but will gradually turn over responsibilities to the commission as its secretariat becomes fully operative.

The Canada Council decided to grant some 300 scholarships and fellowships, award prizes and medals, finance lecturers and launch other projects to aid in the advancement of Canadian culture.

$2,500,000 REVENUE

The scholarships, to be paid out of the council's expected $2,500,000-a-year revenue, may total about $800,000 annually.

Some of the grants to be made: Pre-master's degree scholarships averaging $1,200 for study leading to a master's degree.

Pre-doctor's degree fellowships averaging $2,000 as well as travel allowance, for study leading to a doctor's degree.

Senior fellowships, averaging $4,000 and travel allowance, for travel outside of Canada, open to scholars, artists, musicians, writers and other workers and teachers of the arts.

Junior arts fellowships averaging $2,000 and travel allowance tenable for one year in Canada or elsewhere, for young artists, scholars, musicians, writers and other arts practitioners and teachers with exceptional promise.

Scholarships or fellowships for secondary school teachers, averaging $2,000 and travel allowance tenable for one year.

Fellowships averaging $2,000 for arts teachers tenable for one year in Canada or elsewhere.

Grants of between $300 and $700 for graduate students doing advanced work or teachers doing special jobs.

Fellowships of $5,000 and travel expenses for senior foreign fellows to study in Canada. The grant is to be $2,000 for younger scholars or workers showing exceptional promise.

Fellowships averaging $3,000 for journalists, broadcasters and others.

46% Increase In Apples For Okanagan

Little change is seen by the provincial agricultural department in the Vancouver Island and Gulf Island tree fruit crop this year over 1956.

In its mid-August bulletin, the department estimates this region will produce 16,000 boxes of apples, compared with 16,429 last year.

Pear crop is estimated at 3,500 boxes, a slight increase over last year. Cherries are expected to be up 250 boxes to 3,000 boxes.

In the Okanagan, B.C.'s principal tree fruits region, a 46 per cent increase in apple production is foreseen.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Vancouver Plans Low-Rent Houses

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER—City council decided Tuesday to go ahead with a $1,500,000 low-rental housing scheme, despite opposition from construction men, apartment owners and ratepayer groups.

The 169-unit housing project is to provide homes for more than 500 low-income residents in Vancouver.

The city now will apply for provincial government approval and the province will apply to the federal government. A $63,000 annual subsidy will be shared $51,000 by the federal government, and $8,500 each by the province and the city.

Rents will range from $20 a month for a single person earning up to $80 a month to $60 for a family of seven earning $300 a month. Thirty-six units will be reserved for old age pensioners.

ASK LOAN GUARANTEE

VANCOUVER—City council will ask the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities to push for a government guarantee on municipal loans, and to grant income tax exemption on debentures sold to the public.

Aldermen Tuesday approved the sale of $2,000,000 in debentures to finance the 1957 share of a proposed five-year plan for civil development.

ROAD COMPLAINT

TERRACE, B.C.—The Junior Chamber of Commerce has complained about poor roads in this area in an open letter to Highway Minister P. A. Gagliardi. The letter said there have been long delays "before receiving what few worthwhile improvements we have had."

SURVIVES FALL

KAMLOOPS—Orval Graue, about 27, was admitted to hospital here with a fractured skull after he fell 30 feet from the second-story window of a hotel Tuesday.

Spectators said Graue landed on his head.

6-YEAR-OLD DROWNS

VANCOUVER—Bruce Culter, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Culter, was drowned in a pool at a University of B.C. district home here Tuesday. A doctor, nurse, and inhalator crew worked unsuccessfully for two hours trying to revive him.

LAWYER NAMED

KITIMAT—A Vancouver lawyer, T. E. H. Ellis, has been named Aluminum Co. of Canada nominee to a reconciliation board which will hear the Alcan-United Steelworkers contract arguments.

Steelworkers' nominee is Pat O'Neill, secretary of Pulp and Sulphite Workers, at Prince Rupert. Both representatives are elected to try and agree on a board chairman this week. If they cannot agree, department of labor makes the appointment.

BOY BADLY BITTEN

VANCOUVER—Larry Cumming, 12, of North Vancouver,

was severely bitten on the left arm, shoulder and face Tuesday when he was attacked by a German shepherd dog.

RCMP said one bite on the boy's neck missed the jugular vein by half an inch.

TUBBY TORSO WON'T FIT GRID SEATS

VANCOUVER (CP)—The management of Vancouver's Empire Stadium has had to answer a tricky question: how broad is a football fan?

It decided the answer is 18 inches. But generously-proportioned spectators at the stadium's first Western Interprovincial Football Union game of the season, Saturday, say it underestimated.

Stadium officials said Tuesday seats previously varied in width from 34 to 17½ inches but now have been readjusted to the uniform size. They said this increased capacity by 330 to 25,887.

FAIREST OF THE FAIR

Proudest girl in Langford is Carolyn Clark, 12, 924 Brock, who will reign over Metchosin Farmers' Institute fall fair at Luxton Saturday. She will ride in opening parade in coach that once belonged to Royal Family and will be crowned by Herbert Bruch, MLA, as part of official opening of fair at 2:15 p.m. Chosen by popular vote, she will be attended by three princesses.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Darrow Shields, 22, 675 Jones, was treated at St. Joseph's Hospital Tuesday morning for a crushed ankle, which he received in an accident at his employer's, Island Tug & Barge Ltd., Harbor Road.

Police ambulance took him to hospital.

At 1:40 p.m., police took Jerry Ferrier, 7½, 1141 North Park, to St. Joseph's with a deep cut below his left knee, received when he fell on a nail in a woodpile.

Her first day in Canada was a tough one for Rhona McGovern, 11, 2214 McNeil, who was given eight stitches in her knee after falling from a parking lot fence on Oak Bay Avenue.

Rhona flew Monday night from Scotland and fell off the fence Tuesday morning as she played in her new surroundings.

After shivering through one of Victoria's more miserable summers, in which clouds have been commonplace and sunshine unusual, residents are enjoying a heat wave that started last Tuesday.

Weatherman William Mackie said that temperatures in the "wave" are below what is normally expected in August, and that one shower came along and others are threatening, but agreed that "after what we've had this is really pleasant."

Maximum temperatures have ranged between 65 and 70 degrees, and Thursday's high will be 65 degrees.

Outdoor Club of Victoria will hike around Burnt Bridge and the Koksilah River Sunday. Members will meet at the Veterans' Stage Depot, 728 Herald, at 9:45 a.m.

A woman driver who clutched when she should have braked drove through a plate glass window at the Wishing Well Grocery, Colwood Corners, Tuesday night.

Mrs. John Thompson, 131 Egerton Avenue, was driving along Goldstream Avenue and stepped on the clutch rather than the brake at the corner, she told police.

She plowed into the store, broke the window, and knocked the framework out of kilter so that the store door won't close, Colwood RCMP said.

Damage of $25 resulted from a small fire in a lumber storage pile Tuesday night at Dalziel Box Co. Ltd., 2800 Bridge. City firemen attended at 7:15.

THURSDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Rotary: Empress Hotel, noon luncheon. Charles Nash, lead development director, B.C. Power Commission, will speak on "Social Responsibilities."

Oak Bay Kiwanis: Oak Bay Beach Hotel, dinner at 6:15 p.m. New members will be introduced.

Optimist Club: Pacific Club, noon luncheon.

Burning permits are required for all outside burning up to Oct. 31, Saanich fire department officials reminded municipality residents today.

During summer months many alarms are received and on arrival of firemen, it is often found persons are burning without the required permits. This can lead to prosecution, and causes unnecessary expense to the department.

Permits for burning daily rubbish can be obtained by telephone from any of the Saanich fire stations.

Paul E. Pepin, Victoria, was sentenced in city police court today to 30 days in Oakalla prison for assault causing bodily harm to Low Ming.

Mr. Ming testified earlier that Pepin had asked him for money and on being refused had twisted Ming's thumb and tried to choke him. The incident occurred at the Inner Harbor about July 20.

Building permit was issued at City Hall today for construction of another new service station. Standard Oil Company will build a $20,700 unit at 1931 Oak Bay Avenue. Builder is Farmer Construction. Last week McColl Frontenac was issued permit to build a $24,500 service station across the street in the same block, at 1996 Oak Bay.

Robert Wilkinson, 20-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Wilkinson, Dysart Road, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital at 11:30 this morning with head injuries suffered when he fell backward off a children's slide.

VLA Seeking More Land For Housing

More land is being sought by the Department of Veterans' Affairs for housing subdivisions.

George Chatterton, director of Veterans' Land Act here, said today VLA recognizes an acute housing shortage exists in Victoria.

"Applications for building loans today are as high as they were in the peak year of 1947," he said. "An average of about 60 veterans a month are applying for loans."

In view of the high demand for building loans, he said, VLA will seek to acquire property for the development of subdivisions.

This is in addition to two new subdivisions at Royal Oak and Sidney which were developed this year for veterans at a cost of about $500,000.

MORE HERE

Mr. Chatterton explained that the reason for the high rate of applications for VLA loans was because Vancouver Island had probably more veterans per capita than any other area in Canada.

Only about 7 per cent of Vancouver Island veterans have applied for loans since the end of the war, he said. "About 300 loans are approved a year."

He said about 1,800 veterans had acquired new homes under VLA since the start of the war. About 1,000 of these were located in the Greater Victoria area. Saanich alone had 600 veterans settled under VLA.

Real estate security invested by VLA on Vancouver Island since 1946 amounted to about $14,000,000, he said.

FURTHER OUT

Mr. Chatterton said that he felt that VLA will have to go farther afield to acquire new land for housing subdivisions because of the high cost of property on the Saanich peninsula.

Leave Roundabout Decision To Citizens Says Alderman

By PETE LOUDON

A referendum seeking public opinion on whether the Fountain Circle should be altered or left as it is will be proposed to Victoria city council Thursday.

Ald. E. D. McEwen, who recently spent a day in the Roundabout researching the problem, today said, "Leave it up to the people. I think that would be the fairest way."

Ald. McEwen has strongly opposed the J. D. Faustman one-way street plan for solving rush-hour slowdowns at the Hillside-Douglas-Gorge-Government intersection.

In this he supports a group of Douglas Street merchants headed by Hudson's Bay Company, Eddy's Ltd. and Paul's Drive-in representatives. They fear the Faustman plan, which would have traffic travel north only on Douglas and south only on Government, between Hillside and Princess, would injure business.

Some officials believe, however, the circle question is too technical for settlement by the average voter.

Many voters in the city never have occasion to pass through the circle during rush periods.

Ald. Arthur Dowell, acting mayor today in the mayor's absence, scorned the proposal. "What were we elected for?" he asked.

Ald. McEwen indicated he thought a referendum might ask, as an alternative question whether the public favored one-way or two-way streets incorporated in any roundabout changes. He said police on point duty at present feel, however, the present system could be continued without difficulty if two officers, instead of one, could be spared for the direction task in rush periods.

Approved is put into operation before election, there is bound to be a preliminary mix-up for the initial period, no matter what change is made.

This could reflect in hostility toward present council members on election day.

On the other hand, if the matter were to lie dormant until after the election, and then the public opinion was responsible for whatever change if any, takes place, council members would in effect be "off the hook."

City Crackdown On Motorists Welcomed

Superintendent of motor vehicles, George Lindsay, today welcomed the plan of Greater Victoria police forces for a joint crackdown on bad drivers.

"We are very appreciative of the action taken and of the measure as a whole," Mr. Lindsay said.

"We will do all we can to assist the program."

Victoria Police Chief John Blackstock gave some details about the scheme to the city police commission Tuesday.

RECORDED

He said all police warnings given to motorists in this area for infractions will be recorded and available to all local authorities.

Suspensions of driver's licences will be imposed after two warnings and a conviction, Chief Blackstock said.

Mr. Lindsay confirmed today that his department can and will suspend licences "wherever there is cause," even without a conviction if needed.

Fly-by-Night Critics Hit By South African Envoy

The South African Story is not being properly told abroad, according to the Union's leading emissary in Canada.

"In most countries there is a grave lack of understanding of our internal problems," said Hon. Jan Jordaan, South Africa's High Commissioner to Canada, interviewed in Victoria today.

"Unfortunately, most of the journalists who go to South Africa are pre-occupied with two things—racial segregation and wild animals. They do not present a true picture of the country."

"We have also suffered from fly-by-night writers who spend two weeks in the Union and then set themselves up as critics and authorities."

Leading news agencies, such as Reuters, do a conscientious job of reporting but they are limited to the extent that they have to provide what most newspapers want.

"And most newspapers are interested in what they choose to call racial segregation."

TRADITIONAL

Mr. Jordaan, now on a 17-day tour of Western Canada, says the South African government's policy of "separate development" for blacks and whites is part of a traditional policy which has existed for centuries.

"Our present government has put a more positive emphasis on this traditional policy, which means that the black man is educated to govern himself and to engage in industries established by the government."

"We believe that unless the colored races are permitted to develop in this fashion we shall have a mass of frustrated people followed by an explosion of racial hatred."

Traditionally, Mr. Jordaan says, Canadians and South Africans are "the best of friends." They fought side by side in two world wars and they have much in common industrially and economically.

"During my eight months in Canada I have been conscious of a tremendous amount of good will on the part of Canadians towards my country. But, as yet, they do not know very much of conditions back home."

Mr. Jordaan produced statistics showing that whereas South Africa imported $65,000,000 worth of goods from Canada in 1956, Canada imported only $8,400,000 from South Africa.

Exports to Canada consist chiefly of metals, diamonds, wool, canned fruits, ground nuts, wines and brandies, tanning extracts and salts.

From British Columbia South Africa imported $6,600,000 worth of lumber in 1956 and $6,400,000 of newsprint.

"We are naturally anxious to improve our balance of trade with both B.C. and the rest of Canada," Mr. Jordaan said.

Before coming to Canada, the high commissioner represented South Africa in London, Washington and at the United Nations where he was deputy parliamentary representative.

Painter Follows Own Signs to City

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

A man with a passion for putting Vancouver Island on canvas is exercising his brush in Victoria's Inner Harbor today.

Arne Jensen of Mukilteo, Washington, earns his living as a commercial artist. But whenever the opportunity arises he slips up to Vancouver Island and prowls around the coast in a motor launch painting pictures of old boats, old Indian settlements and any scenic view that takes his eye.

This time he is visiting the Island aboard a luxury motor yacht bearing the odd name of Docout.

Why Docout? The name derives from its owner, Dr. Edwin B. Chase of Everett. It signifies that the doctor is off duty when he goes on board.

Dr. Chase is an amateur water color enthusiast and shares Mr. Jensen's zeal for Vancouver Island scenery.

They also do a little fishing between bouts with paint and brush and are proud of the hefty trout they landed off Saturna Island last weekend.

"I've been coming here for years," burly good-humored Mr. Jensen said, "and I never have enough time to paint all the things I want to paint."

On the commercial side as well, Mr. Jensen has a special interest in Vancouver Island, for he produces many of the "Follow the Birds" posters ordered by Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau for display in the northwest United States.

A number of his water colors of the Island have been shown by the Washington Water Color Society and the Seattle Art Museum.

"I do most of my painting before breakfast because the light is better then," Mr. Jensen said. "That leaves the rest of the day free for sailing and fishing."

ASK The TIMES

Q.—What animals live the longest? T.U.

A.—The giant tortoise is said to live 150 years, and turtles about 75 years, although individual cases have been reported far older. A whale lives about 70 years, an elephant about 60 years and a hippopotamus to about 40. Swans and geese can live to almost 50. Odd as it seems, an earthworm can reach a life span of nearly 10 years.

Q.—How long is a newly born alligator? T.L.

A.—About eight inches when hatched, and they grow about a foot a year.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Add Color in Your Kitchen With New Cafe Curtains

By PENNY SAVER

Cafe curtains will add a colorful touch to a kitchen. The usual type is designed to be hung from the middle of the window with a valance across the top, leaving the upper half of the window clear to let the sunshine pour in.

I found a whole variety of them, ranging from $2.25 to $6.95 in price. One very gay pair had a country kitchen design on it, and was priced at $4.95.

They have plastic loops at the top edges so that they slide easily on plastic rods.

The rods come in white, black, red, blue, yellow, green and gold. There are two sizes—one that extends from 28 inches to 48 inches at 59 cents, and one from 48 to 86 inches at 98 cents.

If you want to make your own cafe curtains, I found some of the gayest material possible. Its on a creamy cotton background and you can choose from splashy red roses, strawberries, yellow daisies or mixed field flowers. Price is $1.50 a yard; width is 36 inches.

Similar fabric in a 54-inch width is $2.25.

The sales girl tells me it is also suitable for tablecloths, and she's also sold some for colorful summer skirts!

Lawn furniture may be looking a bit beat up after a summer outside, and if you'd like to get it all refurnished for next season, there's a plastic fabric that will do the job.

It's easily washed with soap and water, and won't stain or mildew. Price is $1.10 a yard and it comes in red and white stripes, green and white stripes, or red, yellow and green stripes. Directions come with it, and it's easily put onto the furniture frames with tacks, staples or needle and thread.

Loose covers on couches or chairs can be held firmly in place with pins shaped like tiny corkscrews. They won't pull out easily as ordinary pins will do.

Package of 20 plastic-headed pins is 39 cents.

Lists Measures to Help Prevent Varicose Veins

Varicose veins harass thousands of women (and men) from middle age on, and also affect many younger people.

Varicose veins are veins which are no longer elastic. They swell and may become lumpy and twisted in spots. If the condition is neglected, ulceration may result.

These blood vessels have valves which minimize the pressure of the blood on the veins. However, when the walls become sufficiently weakened the veins enlarge and the valves no longer can do their work efficiently.

Varicose veins may come from systemic disease or from work which keeps one standing for long periods of time. Sometimes pregnancy causes them. Some families seem to be more prone to the development of this trouble. If you belong to such a family you would be wise to take preventative measures. As a matter of fact, some of these are good health measures for everyone.

In the first place avoid standing on the feet for hours at a time. If you must be on your feet a great deal, take rest periods with your feet elevated. Whenever you are on a long trip on a bus, train, plane or car, walk about at intervals whenever possible. Wear loose clothing. Tight girdles and garters should be avoided.

Sometimes the first symptom of this condition is a feeling of heaviness in the legs. Cramps at night also may result, although this can result from many other causes.

Although varicose veins are not fatal they can be painful. It is most important that they receive treatment in the early stages. If the condition is mild, it may be controlled by the preventative measures already mentioned. You should spend much more time with your feet elevated, preferably above the heart level.

Great strides have been made during recent years in the treatment of this malady and new techniques have been developed. You should see your doctor when you first begin to have trouble. Elastic stockings are a great help but they should fit correctly and should be used only when prescribed by a physician and under his supervision.

There are new elastic stockings on the market now which are much sheerer and lighter than previous ones. These are the result of two years investigation. On the legs they look like nylons but give the needed support.

There are about 8,000,000 women in the United States alone who require support for the veins in their legs and there will be many more unless women use preventative hygiene to avoid them.

Your Stockings

If your feet hurt these summer days, don't blame short shoes. Blame too-short stockings, advises the experts.

"The actual majority of women buy their stockings at least half a size too short," said Samford Brass of Mojud. "By simple fact of knowing her correct size, a woman can avoid a lot of discomfort."

Here is a shoe-and-socking size chart:

Shoe size 3-3 1/2—stocking size 8 1/2
Shoe size 4-4 1/2—stocking size 9
Shoe size 5-5 1/2—stocking size 9 1/2
Shoe size 6-6 1/2—stocking size 10
Shoe size 7-7 1/2—stocking size 10 1/2

Shoe size 8 1/2-9 1/2—stocking size 11

In seamless styles, which have a tendency to pull taut, Mojud suggests buying half size larger than the chart indicates.

New Bulky Knit Cardigan Right For Both Campus and Date-Time

NEW YORK — There's a sweater-type for everybody in the female population, starting with wee tots and working right through the Thelma Ritter cardigan and the glamor girl stuff.

There's the country look, the very fancy evening look, the campus look and the sophisticated city look.

This fall, you can pretty well pick the length, type, color, weight and weave that you favor to say nothing of the stuff from which the sweaters are knitted.

The sweater turns into a costume top for autumn. It's worn as an overblouse. It's a neat little jacket. When it gets fancy, it's touched with velvet, embroidery, lace, satin or chiffon.

We show here two sweaters utterly unlike each other, yet both sound fashion. For campus wear, there's the bulky cable-knit wool cardigan in white, nipped at the waistline. It can be worn day or evening.

Double-breasted jacket with brass buttons (right) is in a heavy ribbed-stitch wool. It has the longer length, longer sleeve and notched lapel collar. Both designs are by Rosanna.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

IS BLACK INK A MUST? I have just finished addressing envelopes for invitations to my daughter's wedding which takes place next month. A friend tells me that I should have used black ink. I used blue. It seems silly to scrap them all and start over, which would mean ordering more envelopes. But I want to be correct. What should I do? I need your help as soon as possible.

Louise Davis answers: Such a "rule" is going too far. By all means mail the blue-linked envelopes. People aware of the correct standards use as much blue as black. After all, there is nothing garish, displeasing or offensive about blue. It is as conservative as black, but had you used bright green or red, that would have been different, for you would have been breaking away too far from the traditional and conservative. However, the red and green would be acceptable for Christmas cards which are in an entirely different category, for those two colors are associated with that holiday season and Christmas cards vary in form from the serious to the amusing. Therefore, one can take liberties with those, but not with wedding invitations, announcements, or personal letters.

Australia Girl Wed in Vancouver

Baskets of gladioli varying from cream to salmon shades were massed in St. Paul's Anglican Church, Vancouver, for the recent wedding of Florence Dawn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Leoney of Sydney, Australia and Dacre Hamilton P. Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Powell, Monterey Ave., Victoria.

Rev. A. R. Cuyler officiated at the ceremony and Jack Porteous gave the bride in marriage.

Tiers of champagne lace over cinnamon taffeta created the high-waisted ballerina-length gown. The bride wore a close-fitting feather headdress, champagne-toned shoes and crystal necklace to complete her ensemble, and carried a bouquet of Tailsman roses.

Miss Val Elliot was bridesmaid in a ballerina-length dress of copper taffeta with matching accessories and a bouquet of shaded lemon gladioli.

Flower girl, little Miss Debbie Porteous, wore a salmon-pink frock and carried a posy of mixed flowers. Best man was Stu Cresser.

The garden of Mr. and Mrs. C. Bleakley was scene of a reception where co-host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. R. Adams of Vancouver. A double-tier cake was topped with a vase of lemon-toned rosebuds.

For travelling on her honeymoon to Harrison Hot Springs and Vancouver Island, the bride chose a smart black dress and coat, trimmed with mustard, a couter.

The couple plan to live at 1650 Barclay Street in Vancouver.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY Mrs. Sam Gerber (MOTHER OF 5)

No cause for concern if baby doesn't gain as much one month as another. There are many factors that may cause variation such as ups and downs in appetite; more activity at one time than another; teething or minor illness, etc. Most important thing to remember is that most babies catch up to just about the right weight by the end of the first year. Generally speaking, that's about triple the birth weight for most babies.

Brand new... more protein, too! Here's a new cereal, nut-like in flavor with unusual nutritional value. Gerber Protein Cereal Food has a pleasant, toasted taste that appeals to both babies and toddlers... and a 35% protein content to help baby's growth and body development. The high protein content is derived from a combination of oats, wheat, soy beans and yeast... carefully blended for easy digestibility. Like all Gerber Cereals it's ready to serve with milk, formula or other liquids. For new appetite interest, rotate with the other 5 Gerber Baby Cereals.

Make it a twosome. Games for two, between baby and you, are not only fun but play a big part in helping baby to learn the three big C's: concentration, cooperation, coordination. Anyone for peek-a-boo?

Head-y idea. Next time you wash your hair, snitch a few drops of baby's oil and rub it into your hair while it's still damp. Wonderful how it lustrizes locks and makes 'em behave.

It took 40 tries to get a "prize" for baby. The new Gerber Protein Cereal Food is the result of several years of study on the protein value of various grains. Before the study was completed, 40 cereal mixtures had been prepared, analyzed and evaluated. This is another example of the effort Gerber exerts to bring your baby quality products. ### THREE GIRLS IN AUSTRIA

Sleep Sometimes in Barns; Swim in Mountain Streams

By TERRY FRENCH

Travelling through Europe with Sally Hughes and Margot Irwin, former Times reporter Terry French finds time to write home of some of her experiences.

Tyrol Mountains, Austria

Terry

"We're high in the Tyrol Mountains, surrounded by some of the most beautiful country we have seen. Brilliant glacial lakes and rivers are nestled between towering mountains that are completely covered with tall trees in shades of dark green.

"Today we stopped beside a blue-green river and spent the day sunning, eating and taking occasional quick dips in the icy water. We drove on, intending to reach Innsbruck but instead stopped at a tiny farmhouse that had a sign in front 'zimmer frei' which means, an empty room.

"You'd love this house. There's a balcony of beautifully carved wood all across the front. Red and white geraniums completely fill the railing. Even the stairway leading up to the little room where I am writing is made of wood, carved in flower designs. Everything reminds me of a tiny doll's house, complete with pretty little pieces of rustic furniture.

"All the windows have bright shutters with cutwork designs, outlined in a different color. Most of the woods is left in natural color, or stained a slightly darker shade to preserve the grained finish.

"We've traveled through the Black Forest region of Germany, and some of the German Alps (where we first saw these balcony houses loaded with flowers) then into the Austrian Alps and to Salzburg where the music festival was in full swing.

"Unfortunately most of the things we wanted to hear were booked up for two weeks ahead but we did get to one Mozart concert, which was a thrill. Mozart, you will remember, was from Salzburg.

Campsites for European Travellers

"Just before we reached Salzburg we slept in our first barn. Quite an experience! The owners ushered us into a sweet-smelling room in the barn and we proceeded to bed down. Suddenly, heads appeared from everywhere and we discovered that in the hayloft above were 11 or 12 young men, between 7 and 50. The only English they knew was "good night" and "good morning," and this we heard until at least one hour after we went to bed and again, first thing in the morning, around 6 a.m. They even offered us breakfast which Margot in a moment of insanity, refused.

"In Salzburg, we slept in a field, which was part of a campsite where people from all over Europe were staying. These camping spots are to be seen every 10 or 12 miles along almost any highway. Usually there is a store, washing and bathroom facilities and lots of people to meet. In Heidelberg, where we also slept in a field, we had purchased two thin mattresses, three blankets and three pillows . . . and we've been using them ever since).

Return to Birthplace

Mrs. Eileen Miniard and Mrs. Kathleen Heyland, daughters of a well-known Victorian, the late Arthur St. George Flint, motored from Tujunga, Calif., to celebrate Mrs. Miniard's 72nd birthday in this city. Both sisters were born in an old home on Simcoe Street. They have been staying in Victoria Auto Court.

Also in the party from California were Mrs. Heyland's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Heyland, and their son, Billy, Castro Valley, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leithefer and daughter, Pat, of Tujunga.

A birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. K. O'Neill on Richmond Avenue, where guests included the visitors from Tujunga, and Marie, Johnny, Michael and Jeanne, children of the host and hostess. A big attraction at the party was a cake made by Mrs. O'Neill, a duplicate of the house Mrs. Miniard was born in.

The visitors left this morning to motor back to their homes.

A Family Gathering

Forty aunts, uncles and cousins gathered at the Cordova Bay camp of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wiper last Sunday for a family reunion. Among out-of-town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew C. Gunning, Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Brown and Janice and Keith, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. H. Myers with Pam, Pat and Margaret Ann, Port Alberni; Mr. Johnny Trotter and Mr. Mickey Garone, Bakersfield, Calif., and Mr. Charles Siddall, Vancouver.

The Brown family are staying with Mrs. Brown's sister, Miss Marjorie Siddall at her home on Pendergast Street and the Gunnings are staying with Mrs. Gunning's mother, Mrs. W. H. M. May at her home on Ash Street. The Myers are also visiting Mrs. May. Mrs. Myers is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gunning.

Baby Named

Last Sunday in St. George the Martyr Church, Cadboro Bay, Rev. William Hills conducted a christening ceremony in which the baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Harwood received the names Janice Elaine. The baby wore an heirloom robe belonging to the father's family. Godmother is Mrs. Eric S. Smith, Summerland, B.C., for whom Mrs. Ralph Butler stood proxy. The baby's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Harwood and Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Bourne.

Following the ceremony a christening tea for the immediate families was held at the home of the parents, 3920 Hobbs Road. Presiding at the urns were the two grandmothers and among those present was the little girl's brother Bruce.

WIDOW ALONE IN IMMENSE HOME

KENORA, Ont. (CP)—Only three miles from this northwestern Ontario tourist centre there's an $890,000 home, and right now the sole occupant is Mrs. Myrtle A. Toone, 71-year-old widow and former school teacher. It isn't her own home, but she finds herself virtually in charge of the 10-acre layout that will be opened in September as the district of Kenora home for the aged—known as Pine Crest Lodge. Mrs. Toone has been "in residence" since the end of March. While the building was not yet completed, officials moved her in to comply with government regulations so that the home would be eligible for remission of sales taxes in the current year.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING
STIMULATES BUYINGGuests Must Be Good Friends—
Everyone Dips Into Hot Fondue

If you haven't had the gustatory enjoyment of sharing cheese fondue with friends, you're missing something. Make sure there are none among you who would frown on "Community dunking" though, for fondue requires close friendship among the "indulgents."

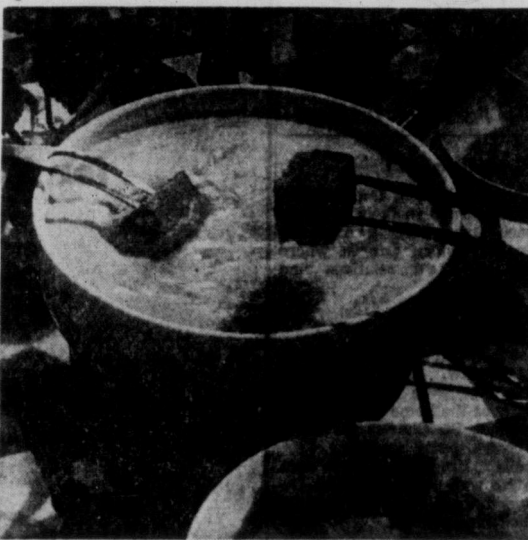

To Canadianize the fondue delightfully, try handy frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup as the base. It gives pretty pink color and the cheese and shrimp flavors "marry" so happily. King Edward VII, a real gourmet considered genuine fondue one of his favorite recipes. And Swiss families have long enjoyed it... just as your friends will.

Fondue should be made in a chafing dish or double boiler, and is eaten directly from the dish. Proper procedure is to let guests spear cubes of crusty bread with two-pronged forks. Everyone gives the bread a dunk in the fondue... then a little stir. The stirring helps maintain the proper consistency of the fondue when each person takes his turn in rotation. Try to keep the mixture bubbling gently, but never let it boil.

Fondue, so delectable is a sure fire way to break the ice at any party. Start dunking!

Shrimp Fondue

1 clove garlic
1 can (10 ounces) frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup
1 cup finely shredded Swiss cheese
2 tablespoons dry white wine (optional)

Bubbling shrimp fondue is a party dish that will break the ice in no time! This fondue uses frozen soup as a base.

Rye or French bread, unsliced. Rub chafing dish or double boiler pan with clove of garlic. Heat shrimp soup over hot water until completely thawed; stir often. Add shredded cheese; heat until cheese melts; if desired, stir in wine. Cut bread in squares. Let each person dip bread into cheese mixture. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Fricassee Rice Bake

Casseroles are ever popular, especially with the cook. Here's a marvelous one making use of chicken a la king. Place the following in a 1½-quart covered casserole; 1 package (5 ounces) pre-cooked rice, 1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas, 1 teaspoon salt, dash black pepper, 1 can (10 ounces) chicken a la king, and a ½ cup water. Mix together; cover and bake in a moderate oven (375°F.) 35 to 40 minutes. Makes 4 to 5 generous servings.

Coronation Court No. 6, court whist card party, K of P Hall, Friday at 8 p.m. Refreshments served. Produce stall.

Dog Days Time to Plan for Autumn

Whoever invented the month of August undoubtedly thought up the month of February, too. But August does possess some admittedly good points. For one thing, it allows a gal to get summer out of her system in a leisurely sort of way and to prepare for autumn.

It's a bridge from summer to fall. What you do while you're crossing that bridge is important to the way you'll look in the first golden days of autumn. What about your hair? Frizzy from the sun and salt water? Dried out or stringy? Then it needs treatment at the hands of an expert. And your skin? Getting that tan was fun. It will look wonderful with the first black crepe dresses you wear. But your skin also needs careful creaming and attention to rid it of dryness. Then there's the matter of your wardrobe. Are you sure that all of those dresses you count on for autumn are really wearable? Now's the time to find out. Perhaps, after all, August is a necessary month.

Once you start a diet, you should know that there are several plateaus that are likely to give you a bad time. The first comes during the first week. It's then that you feel the diet most. You're changing an important habit and it makes you irritable. So be prepared for this first week and recognize it for what it is. This feeling of discomfort vanishes as your stomach adjusts itself to a smaller amount of food. Then comes the next period, usually after you've dieted several weeks and have been losing weight to your satisfaction. You reach a stretch where you seem not to be losing weight though you stick to your diet. You are losing weight; the scales won't register the loss, that's all. So stick to your diet no matter. You'll win through to the reward of a slimmer, younger figure.

When you go shopping for a new suit or dress, don't take along your best friend. You're a big girl now and you can rely on your own judgment. What your friend likes on you may not be right for you at all. In any case, it's best to develop your own clothes sense, a knowledge of what right for your particular good looks. And be careful about leaning too heavily on the judgment of the saleslady. The fact that she "has a dress just like it" is not necessarily a recommendation. Evolve your own good taste through trial and error. That's the way that all sound judgment is achieved.

You have more time for other things when you have a modern automatic gas or electric range.

An automatic range, with oven and burner controls that are easy to operate, completely dependable, gives you unbelievably more time away from your kitchen.

Summer is a good time to have your appliance dealer show you the new automatic ranges—gas or electric. An automatic range means more summer fun and freedom for the whole family!

Victoria Daily Times WEDNESDAY, AUG. 21, 1957 27

FIRST ON GERMAN SOIL

Ex-Nanaimo Assessor Dies in Vancouver

Funeral services were held in Vancouver today for Major John Campbell Dow, MM, ED, formerly of Nanaimo, who died in Vancouver Monday after an illness of several months. He was 64.

Veteran two wars, he was employed by Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Ltd. for many years, and at the time of his retirement some years ago was assessor in Nanaimo. He served with the 54th Battalion in the First World War, and with the Canadian Scottish Regiment during peace time and the Second World War. He was a member of the Canadian Legion, Nanaimo branch, and of the Canadian Scottish Regimental Association in Vancouver.

Major Dow had the distinction of being the first Canadian soldier to set foot on German soil after the end of fighting in 1918. As he told the story, his unit was the first Canadian group to enter Germany, and as it approached the border he broke ranks and ran ahead.

Surviving are the widow, Edna; a son, Harold, his mother, Mrs. Sarah Dow; a sister, Mrs. T. W. Bundy, and three grandchildren, all in Vancouver; another sister, Mrs. S. A. MacDonald, West Summerland, and a brother, David, in Cranbrook.

Canadians are inclined to speak too quickly, he said, "and should introduce some Texan into their dialect."

He became conscious of the human voice during years of blindness, an affliction that was cured by a cornea operation. Through his efforts, voice training will be incorporated into the UBC teacher training course, and he is trying to have voice training included in night school curricula.

government assistance would be available in cases where fees were not able to be collected for trips outside the city.

A letter from the board said the government will share costs of a building with 2,600 feet of floor space. The board requires 3,800 feet.

"The department wants people to run for school board positions," said Mayor Jordan, "but it won't give them authority to build themselves an office."

He also criticized Alberni city council, which made a bid to have the new federal building for this district erected on a more central site, instead of the chosen spot in the Port Alberni city centre.

STAY IN OWN YARD
"They should look after their own little balliwick and we will look after ours," the mayor said.

Council was informed by T. S. Barnett, MP, that he could not support the Alberni request because plans are in a detailed state of preparation and are suited to the chosen site.

Provision of ambulance services outside municipalities is being studied by the provincial government, Provincial Secretary W. D. Black said in a letter to council.

The council had asked if Radio Station For Courtenay?

COURTENAY (CP) — A radio station is under consideration for Courtenay, according to a letter filed by Vancouver radio man Billy Browne with city council.

Mr. Browne indicated he intends to apply to the Board of Transport Commissioners for a licence and sought the blessings of the council.

Aldermen agreed to furnish Mr. Browne with a letter favoring the proposal.

Mr. Browne, 31, has a CJOR breakfast program.

Huge Business Increase Noted in Nanaimo Survey

NANAIMO (CP)—A tremendous increase in business here over the last five years was reported in a joint survey of business statistics by the department of trade and industry and the Nanaimo Chamber of Commerce, released Tuesday.

The purpose of the survey, which covered 202 retail and 38 wholesale establishments, was to determine Nanaimo's trading position in the light of its strategic position in the centre of Vancouver Island.

Retail sales jumped to $25,967,400 from 202 outlets in 1956 from $19,016,200 from 169 outlets in 1951, the report said.

90% UP
Total sales from the 38 wholesale outlets in 1956 were $15,792,500—an increase on the 1951 figure of more than 90 per cent, more than twice the estimated increase for B.C.

However, the 36 per cent increase in retail sales lagged behind the provincial increase of 41.6 per cent.

The report said the figures indicate Nanaimo is increasing in status as a wholesale centre while local retailers are facing increased competition from other areas.

The population of Nanaimo School District 68 rose to 23,101 from 19,113 over the five-year period, representing an over-all growth of 20.3 per cent.

This was slightly more than the over-all provincial rate. The survey said it could be partly attributed to expansion of the pulp-mill at Harmac.

The survey also shows 33.3 cents of the spending dollar of the average consumer in Nanaimo, Harewood, Chase River and Wellington is spent on cars, gasoline and automotive supplies.

Food and non-alcoholic beverages account for 26.7 cents; general merchandise 14.8 cents; building materials and hardware 5.9 cents; furniture and household appliances 4.2 cents; drugs and health supplies 1.9 cents and other purchases 6.5 cents.

Ex-MLA's Son Hurt in Crash At Chase River

NANAIMO—Larry Giovando, 19, son of Dr. Larry Giovando, former Nanaimo MLA, was taken to hospital here early Tuesday morning for treatment of injuries suffered when the car he was driving left the road at Chase River and hit a fence.

Also injured was Walter Bell, 19, of Lake Cowichan. Two other youths were discharged after treatment.

IKE SAYS:

Syria 'Russ Coup'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the ultimate aim of the pro-Communist bid for power in Syria is Soviet control of the country.

He told a press conference, however, the United States government does not know how far the process has gone.

And he added this is not at present one of those cases which would justify any kind of action under his Middle East program adopted early this year. That program, spelled out in a congressional resolution, provides for U.S. economic aid and use of American armed force if needed and invited, to head off Red aggression in the Middle East.

Eisenhower's evaluation was the first high-level American summation of the Syrian crisis since it began developing 10 days ago.

OLD SOVIET TACTIC

The pattern of what is happening in Syria, he said, is an old one with the Soviets. First they offered economic and military aid, then they penetrated the receiving country with their agents, and they found stooges to take over the country for them.

Asked specifically whether he considers this a deliberate Soviet effort to take over the strategically located Middle East country Eisenhower replied that he thinks that is the ultimate aim.

U.K. Press Scores Foreign Policy

LONDON (AP)—Sharp criticism appeared in the British press today of Britain's official complacency toward the leftist drift in Syria.

But Foreign Secretary Lloyd, taking off for a 10-day holiday in Spain, declined comment.

The Daily Sketch said: "The gentlemen in the foreign office watch the Red star rise over the Middle East with an indifferent eye."

New Army Purge By Syria Reds

By United Press

Pro-Soviet elements in Syria have purged another group of army officers and replaced them with active Communists to consolidate further their bloodless revolution, Israeli dispatches reported today.

Reports also persisted Jerusalem, Israel, and Beirut, Lebanon, that Syrian president Shukri El Kuwaty had resigned. But Damascus radio and the Cairo press insisted he would return home in a few days from an Egyptian hospital.

Russ Speed Ships To Mediterranean

COPENHAGEN (UP)—A big Soviet cruiser and a destroyer raced north out of the Baltic past Denmark today, en route to the Mediterranean.

Moscow radio announced the ships were en route to the Mediterranean to "pay a courtesy visit to Albania."

Ex-Victorian Badly Burned In House Fire

A former Victoria lumber worker was in critical condition in a Vancouver hospital today following a rooming house fire in which a companion was burned to death and another seriously hurt.

Gurdas Singh, about 25, was apparently visiting friends when fire broke out in the old West Second Avenue house which was due to be demolished to make way for an industrial project.

Brian Singh, about 70, died from burns shortly after 7 a.m. today.

Gurdas, who had lived here on Garbally Road, had been working in B.C.'s interior the past few months.

He has a brother, Bali, here and another in Port Alberni.

WENNERGREN COMPANY TO IMPORT VOLVO CARS

VANCOUVER (CP)—A new company has been formed by the Wenner-Gren Foundation in British Columbia to import and sell a medium-size Swedish car, the Volvo.

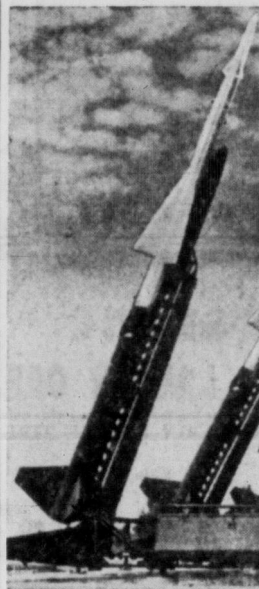

The company is Auto Imports (Swedish) Ltd., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Ltd. Director Leo Hirsh said the Volvo will probably sell for $2,000 to $2,500.

GUNNERS LOOK AHEAD TO MISSILE ERA

Affectionate polishing of a 90 mm. anti-aircraft gun by 4 Light Anti-Aircraft Battery personnel represented end of an era at Work Point today. Future anti-aircraft defence will be by ground-to-air guided missile. At left is Capt. R. M. Callard with Gns. O. L. Barley and J. A. Hazard and Sgt. J. B. Aucoin. Type proposed travel at super-sonic speeds. Larger ones carry atomic warheads, others have high explosive heads. Missiles are electronically controlled. One shown below is a U.S. "Nike."

Public Appeal By Eisenhower For Aid Program

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower appealed publicly today for support of his foreign aid program.

Eisenhower said he hopes the Senate will restore every cent of the $809,000,000 cut by the House below the $3,367,000,000 authorization bill.

He declined to say whether he would call a special session of Congress this fall if the compromise figure falls below what he considers the minimum necessary to assure U.S. and free world security. This, he said, will depend on the world situation at the time.

B.C. Voting Cost 92 Cents a Head

It cost British Columbians 92 cents each to hold the general provincial election last September.

AGNES WHIPS KOREAN PORT

PUSAN, Korea (AP)—Typhoon Agnes smacked this South Korean port city today with wind of 125 miles-an-hour.

National police in Seoul reported one person dead and three missing.

Howling winds took the roof off a United States Army hospital and three other buildings in Pusan. Patients were evacuated safely. Twelve-foot waves battered Pusan harbor.

Stars 'Animal's Eyes' First Spaceman Finds

FREDERICK, S.D. (UP)—The world's first bona fide spaceman, who spent 32 hours exploring the vast reaches along the rim of the stratosphere, emerged from his record-smashing flight dead tired but thrilled with the wonders of the heavens.

Maj. David G. Simons, 35, a lanky air force physician, brought his huge balloon safely to earth near Elm Lake in northern South Dakota Tuesday night. He had attained an altitude of at least 19 miles during his unprecedented trip.

The space pioneer brought back a tale of being surrounded by a purple sky, even in the daytime, and of observing the stars glowing "like an animal's eyes."

But of even greater importance, Simons proved that man can live for extended periods beyond the shackles of the earth's atmosphere. His ordeal was a major link in experimentation that may some day lead the way to space travel.

Two farm youths were the first to greet the spaceman when he stepped uncertainly but unhurt from the small, aluminum gondola in which he had been sealed since Sunday night.

Simons smiled at them and asked: "Hello, how are you? Where am I?"

Simons was whisked in a helicopter to Fargo, N.D. There he freshened up and telephoned the exciting news to his wife in Alamogordo, N.M., where Simons is stationed.

Speaking briefly with newsmen after his landing Tuesday, Simons said his greatest thrill was "getting back to earth."

He said the "capsule (gondola) operated perfectly" during the marathon flight.

Simons said the sky from 19 miles high looks "purple black" even in the daytime.

In the final second she gave the answer and MC Hal March only had time to shout: "You're right for $64,000" and the show went off the air.

Tanker Burned

LONDON (Reuters)—The 25,000-ton tanker World Splendor, damaged by explosions and fire Tuesday 35 miles east of Gibraltar, sank early today, according to reports reaching here. Four seamen were reported missing.

All survivors, including the master, who had remained on board with a skeleton crew, were picked up.

The Statement of Votes released today by chief electoral officer Fred Hurley shows the total cost was $469,825.

This figure covers the expenses incurred by returning officers, and the cost of printing voters' lists, ballots and where-to-vote cards.

Most expensive riding was Vancouver-Point Grey, where the cost was $31,290. Lowest was Atlin at $2,422.

Local ridings: Victoria ($12,150); Oak Bay ($4,151); Esquimalt ($4,565); Saanich ($6,154.77).

In the 1953 general election the total cost was $440,304, or 84 cents per capita.

New Atom Tests Plan Offered Russ by West

2-Year Recess Point Conceded

PARIS (AP)—The western allies today decided to propose a two-year suspension of nuclear tests as part of an over-all disarmament plan.

This was the key point of a new plan which Britain, France, Canada and the United States circulated to their NATO allies here today.

The other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will report their views on it to a special session of the NATO council Monday.

Under terms of the proposition which the Western allies will present to Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin, in London, the suspension of nuclear tests would begin in November, 1958.

It would continue for 12 months and then, if found satisfactory, be extended for another 12 months.

Informal sources said inspection teams would assure that during the time tests were suspended no production of nuclear weapons would be going on.

The plan, finally completed after lengthy inter-allied discussions, would maintain President Eisenhower's proposals for aerial inspection as previously presented.

The Soviet Union has long argued for an unconditional ban on nuclear weapons. Earlier this year, Moscow proposed a two-to-three-year suspensions of tests.

The West countered with a plan which would have called them off for only 10 months.

Diplomats intimately connected with the negotiations considered the new plan an effort to win friends among such countries as India and Japan, which have campaigned vigorously for an end to nuclear explosions.

Winch Alleges Double Cross

QUESNEL, B.C. (CP)—Member of Parliament Harold Winch said Tuesday night the people of British Columbia have been double-crossed by the Social Credit government.

Speaking on behalf of Cariboo CCF candidate Jack Wasyliv, the CCF member for Vancouver East charged that Premier Bennett's refusal to reduce the 5 per cent sales tax was a direct double-cross.

He said it was particularly so in view of the fact that the federal government is soon to meet 50 per cent of hospitalization costs in British Columbia.

HONI SOIT QUI MAL Y PENSE

Ou Est La Princesse? He Wants to Wed Her

LONDON (UP)—French hotel owner Jean Baptiste Guerraz suddenly decided to marry Princess Margaret but was turned away from Balmoral Castle before he could ask for her hand, the tabloid Daily Mirror reported today.

The newspaper said Guerraz traveled from the south of France and turned up at the Scottish castle where members of the Royal Family are enjoying a late summer vacation. Unromantic cops took him into custody.

GRETA ANDERSEN

GRETA FIRST WOMAN TO WIN MASS SWIM

DOVER, England (AP)—Greta Andersen, 30-year-old Danish-born swimmer who now lives at Long Beach, Calif., won the mass swimming race across the English Channel today.

It was the first time in the six-year history of mass cross-channel swims that a woman had been first home.

She was unofficially timed at 13 hours and 55 minutes.

When she landed, 21 other contestants were still in the water.

There were two dramatic moments as she ploughed her way over the last few yards. Twice, she stopped swimming momentarily. Each time, however, she slipped quickly back into motion and went on.

Syria Alleges U.S. Conspiracy

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syria's new army chief of staff says "gangsters made in America" plotted to kill him and other Syrian military leaders. The alleged mass assassination plan, Maj. Gen. Afif Bizry told Western correspondents Tuesday, was part of a plot Syria claims the United States directed against the Syrian government.

"They were to send gangsters to our houses to kill us," Bizry declared. "They were gangsters made in America."

CONSPIRACY CHARGED

The military chief levelled the charge shortly after Syria instructed its United Nations delegation to inform the Security Council that the U.S. had conspired to overthrow President Shukri Kuwaty's regime. Kuwaty, flew to Egypt after the Syrian Army shakeup last week, is in an Alexandria hospital for the announced purpose of getting a medical check. A foreign ministry source said he is expected to return within a week.

Bizry said Howard E. Stone, the U.S. Embassy's second secretary for political affairs, was the mastermind behind the alleged plot. Stone was one of three American diplomats expelled from Syria last week.

NAMES OTHER VICTIMS

Marked for death besides himself, Bizry said, were Brig. Amin Nufoury, new deputy chief of staff, and Col. Abdul Hamid Sarraj, the army's intelligence chief.

"The prime purpose was to kill staff officers who opposed American policy. They wanted the head of every honest man. We have the evidence."

"Democracy, according to Stone, was to put an end to the honest people of this country... he wanted to make my two children orphans."

Britain Maintaining H-Bomb Test Base

LONDON (AP) — Britain is still maintaining her hydrogen bomb test base at Christmas Island in the Pacific, a defence ministry spokesman said today.

But he emphasized, no decision has been made about further H-bomb tests there.

CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF ESQUIMALT ZONING BY-LAW REVISION

NOTICE OF HEARING

NOTICE is hereby given that all persons who deem themselves affected by the provisions of the new Zoning By-law, proposed to be adopted by the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the Township of Esquimalt, will be afforded an opportunity to be heard on the matters contained therein, before the said Council at a PUBLIC HEARING to be held in the Esquimalt Municipal Hall on WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1957, commencing at 7:30 p.m.

The proposed By-law and annexed Zoning Map, which may be inspected at the Esquimalt Municipal Hall between the hours of 9:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. on weekdays except Saturday, and which will reveal By-law No. 222, being the "Zoning By-law 1957" and Amending By-law, makes considerable and important changes in existing zoning restrictions.

J. W. ALLEN, Municipal Clerk.

CCF TACTICS HIT BY TORY

VANCOUVER (CP) — Del Black, Conservative candidate in the forthcoming by-election in suburban Burnaby, says CCF leader Robert Strachan is using insults instead of criticism in his attacks on the Social Credit government.

"There is nothing to be gained by making sarcastic attacks on Premier Bennett, and no room here for political cry-babies," Mr. Black told a meeting Tuesday.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Vancouver Plans Low-Rent Houses

(From CP Dispatches)
VANCOUVER—City council decided Tuesday to go ahead with a $1,500,000 low-rental housing scheme, despite opposition from construction men, apartment owners and ratepayer groups.

The 169-unit housing project is to provide homes for more than 500 low-income residents in Vancouver.

The city now will apply for provincial government approval and the province will apply to the federal government. A $53,000 annual subsidy will be shared $51,000 by the federal government, and $8,500 each by the province and the city.

Rents will range from $20 a month for a single person earning up to $80 a month to $60 for a family of seven earning $300 a month. Thirty-six units will be reserved for old age pensioners.

ASK LOAN GUARANTEE
VANCOUVER—City council will ask the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities to push for a government guarantee on municipal loans, and to grant income tax exemption on debentures sold to the public.

Aldermen Tuesday approved the sale of $2,996,000 in debentures to finance the 1957 share of a proposed five-year plan for civil development.

ROAD COMPLAINT
TERRACE, B.C.—The Junior Chamber of Commerce has complained about poor roads in this area in an open letter to Highway Minister P. A. Gagliardi. The letter said there have been long delays "before receiving what few worthwhile improvements we have had."

SURVIVES FALL
KAMLOOPS—Orval Graue, about 27, was admitted to hospital here with a fractured skull after he fell 30 feet from the second-story window of a hotel Tuesday. Spectators said Graue landed on his head.

6-YEAR-OLD DROWNS
VANCOUVER—Bruce Culter, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Culter, was drowned in a pool at a University of B.C. district home here Tuesday. A doctor, nurse, and inhalator crew worked unsuccessfully for two hours trying to revive him.

LAWYER NAMED
KITIMAT — A Vancouver lawyer, T. E. H. Ellis, has been named Aluminum Co. of Canada nominee to a conciliation board which will hear the Alcan-United Steelworkers contract arguments.

Steelworkers' nominee is Pat O'Neil, secretary of Pulp and Sulphite Workers, at Prince Rupert. Both representatives are elected to try and agree on a board chairman this week. If they cannot agree, department of labor makes the appointment.

BOY BADLY BITTEN
VANCOUVER — Larry Cumming, 12, of North Vancouver,

was severely bitten on the left arm, shoulder and face Tuesday when he was attacked by a German shepherd dog. RCMP said one bite on the boy's neck missed the jugular vein by half an inch.

TUBBY TORSO WON'T FIT GRID SEATS

VANCOUVER (CP) — The management of Vancouver's Empire Stadium has had to answer a tricky question: how broad is a football fan? It decided the answer is 18 inches. But generously-proportioned spectators at the stadium's first Western Interprovincial Football Union game of the season, Saturday, say it underestimated.

Stadium officials said Tuesday seats previously varied in width from 34 to 17½ inches but now have been readjusted to the uniform size. They said this increased capacity by 330 to 25,887.

FAIREST OF THE FAIR

Proudest girl in Langford is Carolyn Clark, 12, 924 Brock, who will reign over Metchosin Farmers' Institute fall fair at Luxton Saturday. She will ride in opening parade in coach that once belonged to Royal Family and will be crowned by Herbert Bruch, M.L.A., as part of official opening of fair at 2.15 p.m. Chosen by popular vote, she will be attended by three princesses.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Darrow Shields, 22, 675 Jones, was treated at St. Joseph's Hospital Tuesday morning for a crushed ankle, which he received in an accident at his employer's, Island Tug & Barge Ltd., Harbor Road.

Police ambulance took him to hospital. At 1.40 p.m., police took Jerry Ferrier, 7½, 1141 North Park, to St. Joseph's with a deep cut below his left knee, received when he fell on a nail in a wood pile.

Her first day in Canada was a tough one for Rhona McGovern, 11, 2214 McNeill, who was given eight stitches in her knee after falling from a parking lot fence on Oak Bay Avenue. Rhona, a few days from Scotland and fell off the fence Tuesday morning as she played in her new surroundings.

After shivering through one of Victoria's more miserable summers, in which clouds have been commonplace and sunshine unusual, residents are enjoying a heat wave that started last Tuesday.

Weatherman William Mackie said that temperatures in the "wave" are below what is normally expected in August, and that one shower came along and others are threatening, but agreed that "after what we've had this is really pleasant." Maximum temperatures have ranged between 65 and 70 degrees, and Thursday's high will be 65 degrees.

Outdoor Club of Victoria will hike around Burnt Bridge and the Koksilah River Sunday. Members will meet at the Veterans' Stage Depot, 728 Herald, at 9:45 a.m.

A woman driver who clutched when she should have braked drove through a plate glass window at the Wishing Well Grocery, Colwood Corners, Tuesday night.

Mrs. John Thompson, 131 Egerton Avenue, was driving along Goldstream Avenue and stepped on the clutch rather than the brake at the corner, she told police.

She ploved into the store, broke the window, and knocked the framework out of kilter so that the store door won't close, Colwood RCMP said.

Damage of $25 resulted from a small fire in a lumber storage pile Tuesday night at Dalziel Box Co. Ltd., 2800 Bridge. City firemen attended at 7.15.

THURSDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Rotary: Empress Hotel, noon luncheon. Charles Nash, local development director, B.C. Power Commission, will speak on "Social Responsibilities."

Oak Bay Kiwanis: Oak Bay Beach Hotel, dinner at 6.15 p.m. New members will be introduced.

Optimist Club: Pacific Club, noon luncheon.

Burning permits are required for all outside burning up to Oct. 31. Saanich fire department officials reminded municipality residents today.

During summer months many alarms are received and on arrival of firemen, it is often found persons are burning without the required permits. This can lead to prosecution, and causes unnecessary expense to the department.

Permits for burning daily rubbish can be obtained by telephone from any of the Saanich fire stations.

Co-ordinating committee for Civil Defence Day, Oct. 4, meets tonight at 8 p.m. in CD headquarters, Cormorant Street, under chairmanship of Val S. Godfrey, Greater Victoria target area deputy co-ordinator.

Paul E. Pepin, Victoria, was sentenced in city police court today to 30 days in Oakalla prison for assault causing bodily harm to Low Ming. Mr. Ming testified earlier that Pepin had asked him for money and on being refused had twisted Ming's thumb and tried to choke him. The incident occurred at the Inner Harbor about July 20.

Building permit was issued at City Hall today for construction of another new service station. Standard Oil Company will build a $20,700 unit at 1931 Oak Bay Avenue. Builder is Farmer Construction. Last week McColl Frontenac was issued permit to build a $24,500 service station across the street in the same block, at 1996 Oak Bay.

Robert Wilkinson, 20-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Wilkinson, Dysart Road, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital at 11.30 this morning with head injuries suffered when he fell backward off a children's slide.

ONE MUNICIPALITY COULD HOLD UP WHOLE DEVELOPMENT

Merger Groundwork Up to Councils, Gov't Aid Later

By PETER MUNAY

What help can Saanich expect from the provincial government in its investigation of amalgamation?

At this stage, not much. Following the referendum defeat of a permanent municipal hall addition last Saturday, Reeve Arthur Ash said he would consult with Premier Bennett and Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black.

At the same time, the reeve said he was appointing a committee to look into all aspects of the question of amalgamation with Victoria.

Mayor Percy Scourrah promised support to the inquiry. Under provisions of the new Municipal Act, the provincial government can do little until the project is more advanced.

About all that can be offered now is advice, both of a technical and general nature,

Results follow of the Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club game held Tuesday at 902 Government:

North-South—Otto Leemont and Bill Simpson-Balkie; Ethel Cleworth and Jack Goldie; Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Beale; Ernie Allen and Bill Brown-Cave.

East-West—Eleanor McKee and Freda Small; Lillian Goodwin and George Morgan; Maude McMicking and George Metcalfe; Edith Bold and Hildegarde Rundquist.

Golf Club Loses Liquor Licence

The lounge licence at Victoria Golf Club has been suspended from Aug. 20 to 27, the B.C. Liquor Control Board announced today.

Reason given for the suspension is that the club permitted consumption of liquor on a Sunday, it was stated.

It is understood the occasion was a cocktail party in connection with the Pacific Northwest Seniors' Golf Association tournament.

'Presley Package' Popular

By TONY DICKASON

Estimate Elvis will be enthusiastically supported in his role of barber-fugitive in Vancouver Saturday night by a bouncin' bloc of Victoria teenagers, and others older.

C & C Taxi today started sale of a $9.95 "Presley package" visit to the mainland stadium, leaving here at 1.45 p.m. Saturday via Nanaimo and returning in the small hours of the morning.

The $9.95 includes everything but eats, and a course in music appreciation.

Youth's Hearing On Manslaughter Continues Aug. 30

Third sitting for a preliminary hearing of a charge of manslaughter against Barry Jackson, 15, of 2604 Roseberry, was set in city police court today for Friday, Aug. 30.

The youth has been charged as the driver of a stolen car which crashed over a cliff to Stoney Beach off Dallas Road July 26 after a wild police chase through the city. One passenger, Gunnar Stebeck, 13, of 1430 Pembroke, was killed in the plunge.

Two others, Ray Murdoch, 12, of 1418 Taunton, and James Lott, 13, of 1321 Haultain, still have not regained full consciousness at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Murdoch is "somewhat improved" and Lott, "improving slowly," hospital authorities said today.

World Bank Official Visits Mother

The International Monetary Fund has loaned nearly $3 billion to member nations since it was created after the Second World War, deputy director of the operations department dealing with southern Asia and the Middle East, Dr. Neil Perry, said here today.

The 47-year-old Victoria-born economist is here with his wife and two daughters from Washington, D.C., headquarters, visiting his mother, Mrs. Agnes M. Perry, 934 Empress Avenue.

Current world bank loans are to Iran, for $75,000,000, and to a steel company in India for the same amount for national development.

Leave Roundabout Decision To Citizens Says Alderman

By PETE LOUDON

A referendum seeking public opinion on whether the Fountain Circle, should be altered or left as it is will be proposed to Victoria city council Thursday.

Ald. E. D. McEwen, who recently spent a day in the Roundabout researching the problem, today said, "Leave it up to the people. I think that would be the fairest way."

Ald. McEwen has strongly opposed the J. D. Faustman one-way street plan for solving rush-hour slowdowns at the Hillside-Douglas-Gorge-Government intersection.

In this he supports group of Douglas Street merchants headed by Hudson's Bay Company, Eddy's Ltd. and Paul's Drive-in representatives. They fear the Faustman plan, which would have traffic travel north only on Douglas and south only on Government, between Hillside and Princess, would injure business.

DR. NEIL PERRY ... no politics, but

DECEMBER VOTE

If council back-tracked and gave support to the referendum proposal, some city hall officials thought the matter would then be delayed until municipal elections in December. A referendum would be less expensive if taken at the time election ballots are cast.

Strategically, such a move might benefit those council members, including Mayor Percy Scourrah who are expected to seek re-election in December.

If the roundabout plan now approved is put into operation before election, there is bound to be a preliminary mix-up for

City Crackdown On Motorists Welcomed

Superintendent of motor vehicles, George Lindsay, today welcomed the plan of Greater Victoria police forces for a joint crackdown on bad drivers.

"We are very appreciative of the action taken and of the measure as a whole," Mr. Lindsay said.

"We will do all we can to assist the program."

Victoria Police Chief John Blackstock gave some details about the scheme to the city police commission Tuesday.

RECORDED

He said all police warnings given to motorists in this area for infractions will be recorded and available to all local authorities.

Suspensions of driver's licences will be imposed after two warnings and a conviction, Chief Blackstock said.

Mr. Lindsay confirmed today that his department can and will suspend licences "wherever there is cause," even without a conviction if needed.

Fly-by-Night Critics Hit By South African Envoy

The South African Story is not being properly told abroad, according to the Union's leading emissary in Canada.

"In most countries there is a grave lack of understanding of our internal problems," said Hon. Jan Jordaan, South Africa's High Commissioner to Canada, interviewed in Victoria today.

"Unfortunately, most of the journalists who go to South Africa are pre-occupied with two things—racial segregation and wild animals. They do not present a true picture of the country."

"We have also suffered from fly-by-night writers who spend two weeks in the Union and then set themselves up as critics and authorities."

"Leading news agencies, such as Reuters, do a conscientious job of reporting but they are limited to the extent that they have to provide what most newspapers want."

"And most newspapers are interested in what they choose to call racial segregation."

TRADITIONAL

Mr. Jordaan, now on a 17-day tour of Western Canada, says the South African government's policy of "separate development" for blacks and whites is part of a traditional policy which has existed for centuries.

"Our present government has put a more positive emphasis on this traditional policy, which means that the black man is educated to govern himself and to engage in industries established by the government."

"We believe that unless the colored races are permitted to develop in this fashion we shall have a mass of frustrated people followed by an explosion of racial hatred."

Traditionally, Mr. Jordaan says, Canadians and South Africans are "the best of friends." They fought side by side in two world wars and they have much in common industrially and economically.

"During my eight months in Canada I have been conscious of a tremendous amount of good will on the part of Canadians towards my country. But, as yet, they do not know very much of conditions back home."

Mr. Jordaan produced statistics showing that whereas South Africa imported $65,000,000 worth of goods from Canada in 1956, Canada imported only $8,400,000 from South Africa.

Exports to Canada consist chiefly of metals, diamonds, wool, canned fruits, ground nuts, wines and brandies, tanning extracts and salts.

From British Columbia South Africa imported $8,600,000 worth of lumber in 1956 and $6,400,000 of newsprint.

"We are naturally anxious to improve our balance of trade both with B.C. and the rest of Canada," Mr. Jordaan said.

Before coming to Canada, the high commissioner represented South Africa in London, Washington and at the United Nations where he was deputy parliamentary representative.

He is accompanied on his western tour by Mrs. Jordaan, a native of Port Elizabeth whose family first settled in Cape province more than 200 years ago. She is of French Huguenot descent.

U.S. Painter Follows Own Signs to City

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

A man with a passion for putting Vancouver Island on canvas is exercising his brush in Victoria's Inner Harbor today.

Arne Jensen of Mukilteo, Washington, earns his living as a commercial artist. But whenever the opportunity arises he slips up to Vancouver Island and prowls around the coast in a motor launch painting pictures of old boats, old Indian settlements and any scenic view that takes his eye.

This time he is visiting the Island aboard a luxury motor yacht bearing the odd name of Decout.

Why Decout? The name derives from its owner, Dr. Edwin B. Chase of Everett. It signifies that the doctor is off duty when he goes on board.

Dr. Chase is an amateur water color enthusiast and shares Mr. Jensen's zeal for Vancouver Island scenery.

They also do a little fishing between bouts with paint and brush and are proud of the hefty trout they landed off Saturna Island last weekend.

"I've been coming here for years," burly good-humored Mr. Jensen said, "and I never have enough time to paint all the things I want to paint."

On the commercial side as well, Mr. Jensen has a special interest in Vancouver Island, for he produces many of the "Follow the Birds" posters ordered by Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau for display in the northwest United States.

A number of his water colors of the Island have been shown by the Washington Water Color Society and the Seattle Art Museum.

"I do most of my painting before breakfast because the light is better then," Mr. Jensen said. "That leaves the rest of the day free for sailing and fishing."

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—What animals live the longest? T.U.

A.—The giant tortoise is said to live 150 years, and turtles about 75 years, although individual cases have been reported far older. A whale lives about 70 years, an elephant about 60 years and a hippopotamus to about 40. Swans and geese can live to almost 50. Odd as it seems, an earthworm can reach a life span of nearly 10 years.

Q.—How long is a newly-born alligator? T.L.

A.—About eight inches when hatched, and they grow about a foot a year.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Add Color in Your Kitchen With New Cafe Curtains

By PENNY SAVER

Cafe curtains will add a colorful touch to a kitchen. The usual type is designed to be hung from the middle of the window with a valance across the top, leaving the upper half of the window clear to let the sunshine pour in.

I found a whole variety of them, ranging from $2.25 to $6.95 in price. One very gay pair had a country kitchen design on it, and was priced at $4.95.

They have plastic loops at the top edges so that they slide easily on plastic rods.

The rods come in white, black, red, blue, yellow, green and gold. There are two sizes—one that extends from 28 inches to 48 inches at 59 cents, and one from 48 to 86 inches at 98 cents.

If you want to make your own cafe curtains, I found some of the gayest material possible. Its on a creamy cotton background and you can choose from splashy red roses, strawberries, yellow daisies or mixed field flowers. Price is $1.50 a yard; width is 36 inches.

Similar fabric in a 54-inch width is $2.25.

The sales girl tells me it is also suitable for tablecloths, and she's also sold some for colorful summer skirts!

Lawn furniture may be looking a bit beat up after a summer outside, and if you'd like to get it all refurnished for next season, there's a plastic fabric that will do the job.

It's easily washed with soap and water, and won't stain or mildew. Price is $1.10 a yard and it comes in red and white stripes, green and white stripes, or red, yellow and green stripes. Directions come with it, and it's easily put onto the furniture frames with tacks, staples or needle and thread.

Loose covers on couches or chairs can be held firmly in place with pins shaped like tiny corkscrews. They won't pull out easily as ordinary pins will do.

Package of 20 plastic-headed pins is 39 cents.

I'll be glad to tell you where I found any of these items if you call me at 2-3131.

lumpy and twisted in spots. If the condition is neglected, ulceration may result.

These blood vessels have valves which minimize the pressure of the blood on the veins. However, when the walls become, sufficiently weakened the veins enlarge and the valves no longer can do their work efficiently.

Varicose veins may come from systemic disease or from work which keeps one standing for long periods of time. Sometimes pregnancy causes them. Some families seem to be more prone to the development of this trouble. If you belong to such a family you would be wise to take preventative measures. As a matter of fact, some of these are good health measures for everyone.

In the first place avoid standing on the feet for hours at a time. If you must be on your feet a great deal, take rest periods with your feet elevated. Whenever you are on a long trip on a bus, train, plane or car, walk about at intervals whenever possible. Wear loose clothing. Tight girdles and garters should be avoided.

Sometimes the first symptom of this condition is a feeling of heaviness in the legs. Cramps at night also may result, although this can result from many other causes.

Although varicose veins are not fatal they can be painful. It is most important that they receive treatment in the early stages. If the condition is mild, it may be controlled by the preventative measures already mentioned. You should spend much more time with your feet elevated, preferably above the heart level.

Great strides have been made during recent years in the treatment of this malady and new techniques have been developed. You should see your doctor when you first begin to have trouble. Elastic stockings are a great help but they should fit correctly and should be used only when prescribed by a physician and under his supervision.

There are new elastic stockings on the market now which are much sheerer and lighter than previous ones. These are the result of two years investigation. On the legs they look like nylons but give the needed support.

There are about 8,000,000 women in the United States alone who require support for the veins in their legs and there will be many more unless women use preventative hygiene to avoid them.

Your Stockings

If your feet hurt these summer days, don't blame short shoes. Blame too-short stockings, advises the experts.

"The actual majority of women buy their stockings at least half a size too short," said Samford Brass of Mojud. "By simple fact of knowing her correct size, a woman can avoid a lot of discomfort."

Shoe size 3-3 1/2—stocking size 8 1/2.
Shoe size 4-4 1/2—stocking size 9.
Shoe size 5-5 1/2—stocking size 9 1/2.
Shoe size 6-6 1/2—stocking size 10.
Shoe size 7-7 1/2—stocking size 10 1/2.
Shoe size 8-8 1/2—stocking size 11.

In seamless styles, which have a tendency to pull taut, Mojud suggests buying half size larger than the chart indicates.

New Bulky Knit Cardigan Right For Both Campus and Date-Time

NEW YORK — There's a sweater-type for everybody in the female population, starting with wee tots and working right through the Thelma Ritter cardigan and the glamor girl stuff.

There's the country look, the very fancy evening look, the campus look and the sophisticated city look.

This fall, you can pretty well pick the length, type, color, weight and weave that you favor to say nothing of the stuff from which the sweater's knitted.

The sweater turns into a costume top for autumn. It's worn as an overblouse. It's a neat little jacket. When it gets fancy, it's touched with velvet, embroidery, lace, satin or chiffon.

We show here two sweaters utterly unlike each other, yet both sound fashion. For campus wear, there's the bulky cable-knit wool cardigan in white, nipped at the waistline. It can be worn day or evening.

Australia Girl Wed in Vancouver

Baskets of gladioli varying from cream to salmon shades were massed in St. Paul's Anglican Church, Vancouver, for the recent wedding of Florence Dawn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Looney of Sydney, Australia and Dacre Hamilton P. Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Powell, Monterey Ave., Victoria.

Rev. A. R. Cuyler officiated at the ceremony and Jack Porteous gave the bride in marriage.

Tiers of champagne lace over cinnamon taffeta created the high-waisted ballerina-length bridal gown. The bride wore a close-fitting feather headress, champagne-toned shoes and crystal necklace to complete her ensemble, and carried a bouquet of Tulliesman roses.

Miss Val Elliot was bridesmaid in a ballerina-length dress of copper taffeta with matching accessories and a bouquet of shaded lemon gladioli.

Flower girl, little Miss Debbie Porteous, wore a salmon-pink frock and carried a posy of mixed flowers. Best man was Stu Cresser.

The garden of Mr. and Mrs. C. Bleakley was scene of a reception where co-host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. R. Adams of Vancouver. A double-tier cake was topped with a vase of lemon-toned rosebuds.

For travelling on her honeymoon to Harrison Hot Springs and Vancouver Island, the bride chose a smart black dress and coat, trimmed with mustard, a black picture hat and accessories. The couple plan to live at 1650 Barclay Street in Vancouver.

Bringing Up Baby

WHILE COLLECTED BY The New Yorker
(MOTHER OF 3)

No cause for concern if baby doesn't gain as much one month as another. There are many factors that may cause variation such as ups and downs in appetite; more activity at one time than another; teething or minor illness, etc. Most important thing to remember is that most babies catch up to just about the right weight by the end of the first year. Generally speaking, that's about triple the birth weight for most babies.

Brand new... more protein, too! Here's a new cereal, nut-like in flavor with unusual nutritional value. Gerber Protein Cereal Food has a pleasant, toasted taste that appeals to both babies and toddlers... and a 35% protein content to help baby's growth and body development. The high protein content is derived from a combination of oats, wheat, soy beans and yeast... carefully blended for easy digestibility. Like all Gerber Cereals it's ready to serve with milk, formula or other liquids. For new appetite interest, rotate with the other 5 Gerber Baby Cereals.

Make it a twosome. Games for two, between baby and you, are not only fun but play a big part in helping baby to learn the three big C's: concentration, cooperation, coordination. Anyone for peek-a-boo?

Head-y ideas. Next time you wash your hair, snitch a few drops of baby's oil and rub it into your hair while it's still damp. Wonderful how it lusterizes locks and makes 'em behave.

It took 40 tries to get a "prize" for baby. The new Gerber Protein Cereal Food is the result of several years of study on the protein value of various grains. Before the study was completed, 40 cereal mixtures had been prepared, analyzed and evaluated. This is another example of the effort Gerber exerts to bring you baby quality products. ## Trade Pact Bid

EAST BERLIN (AP)—A Communist newspaper says Russia secretly offered a $1,660,000 trade pact to West Germany.

The Berliner Zeitung says the Soviets put forward the proposal at the beginning of the now-stalled trade talks in Moscow.

Nels Stewart Dies

WASAGA BEACH, Ont. (CP)—Nels Stewart, former National Hockey League star with Montreal Maroons, Boston Bruins and New York Americans, died suddenly here today. He was 56.

Power Compromise

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower signed legislation authorizing New York state to build a $600,000,000 power plant on the Niagara River.

The compromise measure ends a seven-year battle over the huge power project. It directs the federal power commission to issue a licence to the New York State Power Authority, a state agency, to build the project.

Russ Woo Iran

LONDON (UP)—Russia has begun wooing Iran in a new Soviet strategy aimed at hitting the Baghdad Pact nations with a mixture of co-existence and infiltration, diplomatic sources said today.

They said Moscow switched its policy toward Iran, a Baghdad Pact member with Britain, Turkey, Iraq and Pakistan, when it failed to intimidate the Iranian government with threats of force.

Bargaining Study

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal study of the possible repeal of a legal back against collective bargaining by civil servants was indicated today.

Fred Whitehouse, president of the Civil Service Federation of Canada, said Finance Minister Fleming has promised a thorough study of the question of improved negotiation procedures between the government and its employees.

IKE SAYS:

Syria
'Russ Coup'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the ultimate aim of the pro-Communist bid for power in Syria is Soviet control of the country.

He told a press conference, however, the United States government does not know how far the process has gone.

And he added this is not at present one of those cases which would justify any kind of action under his Middle East program adopted early this year. That program, spelled out in a congressional resolution, provides for U.S. economic aid and use of American armed force if needed and invited, to head off Red aggression in the Middle East.

Eisenhower's evaluation was the first high-level American summation of the Syrian crisis since it began developing 10 days ago.

OLD SOVIET TACTIC

The pattern of what is happening in Syria, he said, is an old one with the Soviets. First they offered economic and military aid, then they penetrated the receiving country with their agents, and they found stooges to take over the country for them.

Asked specifically whether he considers this a deliberate Soviet effort to take over the strategically located Middle East country Eisenhower replied that he thinks that is the ultimate aim.

U.K. Press Scores
Foreign Policy

LONDON (AP)—Sharp criticism appeared in the British press today of Britain's official complacency toward the leftist drift in Syria.

But Foreign Secretary Lloyd, taking off for a 10-day holiday in Spain, declined comment.

The Daily Sketch said: "The gentlemen in the foreign office watch the Red star rise over the Middle East with an indifferent eye."

Russ Speed Ships
To Mediterranean

COPENHAGEN (UP)—A big Soviet cruiser and a destroyer raced north out of the Baltic past Denmark today, en route to the Mediterranean.

Moscow radio announced the ships were en route to the Mediterranean to "pay a courtesy visit to Albania."

Anti-aircraft crews at Esquimalt's Work Point Barracks today hailed Ottawa's decision making them the first guided missile-equipped unit in Canada.

"People from our unit have had training in missiles and I think most of us are happy to get into the field," said Capt. R. M. Callard, second-in-command of 4 Light Anti-Aircraft Battery.

In a major policy announcement by Defence Minister Pearkes in Ottawa Tuesday, it was disclosed that the Battery will join other artillery units and its parent First Light Anti-Aircraft Regiment in a missile training program at Picton, Ont., and elsewhere.

The LAA regiment will become the first Canadian army unit to convert to modern, supersonic anti-aircraft weapons.

"We'll be a little sorry to leave our guns," Capt. Callard said, "We were fond of them and could shoot them rather well."

There are more than 200 men in the local Battery, and about 25 have received introductory courses on guided missiles.

It was not immediately known if 4 Light Battery will be returning to Esquimalt after the course is completed.

Defence Minister Pearkes is expected to elaborate on his announcement when he arrives here Thursday night.

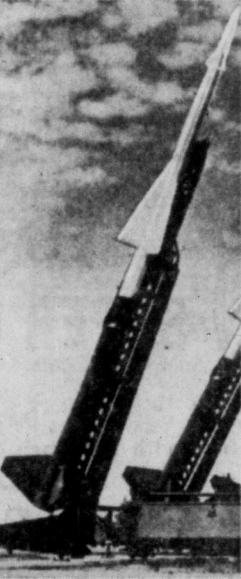

In the meantime, the only artillery on Vancouver Island will be 5 Medium Battery of militia, which was re-organized last year.

Other changes affecting local army units announced by the defence minister include the relocation of 3 Field Squadron, Work Point, to Camp Chilliwack.

It will take the place of 4 Field Squadron, scheduled to proceed to Germany with Canadian NATO forces in October or November.

The vacated barracks at Work Point will be taken over by First Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, due to return from Germany about mid-October when their place will be taken by Second Battalion Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, Camp Gordon Head.

Presumably, Camp Gordon Head will be closed.

Dollar Still Climbing

NEW YORK (AP)—The Canadian dollar continued its record-breaking rise over the U.S. dollar today. It opened at a premium of 6 5/32 cents, an increase of 1/32 cents over Tuesday's close.

B.C. Voting Cost

92 Cents a Head

It cost British Columbians 92 cents each to hold the general provincial election last September.

The Statement of Votes released today by chief electoral officer Fred Hurley shows the total cost was $469,825.

This figure covers the expenses incurred by returning officers, and the cost of printing voters' lists, ballots and where-to-vote cards.

Most expensive riding was Vancouver-Point Grey, where the cost was $31,290. Lowest was Atlin at $2,422.

Local ridings: Victoria ($12,150); Oak Bay ($4,151); Esquimalt ($4,565); Saanich ($6,154.77).

In Collision With Van Near Colquitz School

Saanich police were searching desperately at press time today for parents of an unidentified nine or 10-year-old girl who was critically injured when struck by a truck at 1:30 p.m.

Clues provided by a card found in the girl's possession, although lacking her name, were expected to lead police to the parents.

The child was in collision with a Fyfe Cleaner's van as she walked north on the right side of Interurban Road near Colquitz Junior High School.

The child, bleeding profusely and unconscious, was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital by Saanich police ambulance.

Hospital officials said she was suffering from severe head injuries.

Driver of the van, who gave his name as Wilfred Rhodes, was in a condition of shock.

He was able to recall driving north past the rear of the school when he noticed the girl walking in the same direction, on the right side of the road, her back to the truck.

At the same time, Mr. Rhodes said, he noticed a milk truck approaching from the north. He pulled over as far as he could and slowed to 20 miles per hour, he stated.

At that moment, the girl appeared to step to her left, directly in front of the van, he said.

OUT OF CONTROL

It was too late to avoid a collision. The driver jammed his brakes, passed the point of collision about 50 feet and swerved from the road out of control.

The truck came to rest with its rear wheels off the road and the front wheels broadside on the roadway.

$150 Million
Federal Loans
For Housing

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced tonight the government will make $150,000,000 available for loans under the National Housing Act to give immediate encouragement to the construction of low-priced homes.

He said the loans would be available to home-owner applicants, builders and rental investors through existing approved lenders—chartered banks, insurance and loan and trust companies—who operate as agents of Central Mortgage and Housing Corp., a Crown agency.

GRETA FIRST WOMAN TO WIN MASS SWIM

GRETA ANDERSEN

DOVER, England (AP)—Greta Andersen, 30-year-old Danish-born swimmer who now lives at Long Beach, Calif., won the mass swimming race across the English Channel today.

It was the first time in the six-year history of mass cross-channel swims that a woman had been first home.

She was unofficially timed at 13 hours and 55 minutes.

When she landed, 21 other contestants were still in the water.

There were two dramatic moments as she ploughed her way over the last few yards. Twice, she stopped swimming momentarily. Each time, however, she slipped quickly back into motion and went on.

Ex-Victorian Badly Burned In House Fire

A former Victorian lumber worker was in critical condition in a Vancouver hospital today following a rooming house fire in which a companion was burned to death and another seriously hurt. Gurdas Singh, about 25, was apparently visiting friends when fire broke out in the old West Second Avenue house which was due to be demolished to make way for an industrial project. Brian Singh, about 70, died from burns shortly after 7 a.m. today.

Gurdas, who had lived here on Garbally Road, had been working in B.C.'s interior the past few months. He has a brother, Bali, here and another in Port Alberni.

Winch Alleges Double Cross

QUESNEL, B.C. (CP)—Member of Parliament Harold Winch said Tuesday night the people of British Columbia have been double-crossed by the Social Credit government.

Speaking on behalf of Cariboo CCF candidate Jack Wasyliw, the CCF member for Vancouver East charged that Premier Bennett's refusal to reduce the 5 per cent sales tax was a direct double-cross.

He said it was particularly so in view of the fact that the federal government is soon to meet 50 per cent of hospitalization costs in British Columbia.

Public Appeal By Eisenhower For Aid Program

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower appealed publicly today for support of his foreign aid program.

Eisenhower said he hopes the Senate will restore every cent of the $809,000,000 cut by the House below the $3,367,000,000 aid authorization bill.

He declined to say whether he would call a special session of Congress this fall if the compromise figure falls below what he considers the minimum necessary to assure U.S. and free world security. This, he said, will depend on the world situation at the time.

Massey To Be Absent As Parliament Opens

OTTAWA (BUP)—Governor-General Vincent Massey will not attend the opening of Parliament Oct. 14, Capital Hill sources revealed today.

As Queen Elizabeth is scheduled to open the forthcoming session of Parliament the Governor-General, who is her deputy, would be left with "no particular function to perform."

ation plan, Maj-Gen. Afif Bizry told Western correspondents Tuesday, was part of a plot Syria claims the United States directed against the Syrian government.

"They were to send gangsters to our houses to kill us," Bizry declared. "They were gangsters made in America."

CONSPIRACY CHARGED

The military chief levelled the charge shortly after Syria instructed its United Nations delegation to inform the Security Council that the U.S. had conspired to overthrow President Shukri Kuwaty's regime.

"Kuwaty, flew to Egypt after the Syrian Army shakeup last week, is in an Alexandria hospital for the announced purpose of getting a medical check. A foreign ministry source said he is expected to return within a week.

Bizry said Howard E. Stone, the U.S. Embassy's second secretary for political affairs, was the mastermind behind the alleged plot. Stone was one of three American diplomats expelled from Syria last week.

NAMES OTHER VICTIMS

Marked for death besides himself, Bizry said, were Brig. Amin Nufoury, new deputy chief of staff, and Col. Abdul Hamid Sarraj, the army's intelligence chief.

"The prime purpose was to kill staff officers who opposed American policy. They wanted the head of every honest man. We have the evidence. Democracy, according to Stone, was to put an end to the honest people of this country... he wanted to make my two children orphans."

CCF TACTICS HIT BY TORY

VANCOUVER (CP) — Del Black, Conservative candidate in the forthcoming by-election in suburban Burnaby, says CCF leader Robert Strachan is using insults instead of criticism in his attacks on the Social Credit government.

"There is nothing to be gained by making sarcastic attacks on Premier Bennett, and no room here for political cry-babies," Mr. Black told a meeting Tuesday.

WENNER-GREN COMPANY TO IMPORT VOLVO CARS

VANCOUVER (CP)—A new company has been formed by the Wenner-Gren Foundation in British Columbia to import and sell a medium-size Swedish car, the Volvo.

The company is Auto Imports (Swedish) Ltd., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Ltd. Director Leo Hirsh said the Volvo will probably sell for $2,000 to $2,500.

Stars 'Animal's Eyes' First Spaceman Finds

FREDERICK, S.D. (UP)—Simons is stationed. Speaking briefly with newsmen after his landing Tuesday, Simons said his greatest thrill was "getting back to earth." He said the "capsule (gondola) operated perfectly" during the marathon flight.

Simons said the sky from 19 miles high looks "purple black" even in the daytime.

Maj. David G. Simons, 35, a lanky air force physician, brought his huge balloon safely to earth near Elm Lake in northern South Dakota Tuesday night. He had attained an altitude of at least 19 miles during his unprecedented trip.

The space pioneer brought back a tale of being surrounded by a purple sky, even in the daytime, and of observing the stars glowing "like an animal's eyes."

But of even greater importance, Simons proved that man can live for extended periods beyond the shackles of the earth's atmosphere. His ordeal was a major link in experimentation that may some day lead the way to space travel.

Two farm youths were the first to greet the spaceman when he stepped uncertainly but unhurt from the small, aluminum gondola in which he had been sealed since Sunday night.

Simons smiled at them and asked: "Hello, how are you? Where am I?"

Simons was whisked in a helicopter to Fargo, N.D. There he freshened up and telephoned the exciting news to his wife in Alamogordo, N.M., where

Huge Business Increase Noted in Nanaimo Survey

NANAIMO (CP)—A tremendous increase in business here over the last five years was reported in a joint survey of business statistics by the department of trade and industry and the Nanaimo Chamber of Commerce, released Tuesday.

The purpose of the survey, which covered 202 retail and 38 wholesale establishments, was to determine Nanaimo's trading position in the light of its strategic position in the centre of Vancouver Island.

Retail sales jumped to $25,967,400 from 202 outlets in 1956 from $19,016,200 from 169 outlets in 1951, the report said.

90% UP
Total sales from the 38 wholesale outlets in 1956 were $15,792,500—an increase on the 1951 figure of more than 90 per cent, more than twice the estimated increase for B.C.

However, the 36 per cent increase in retail sales lagged behind the provincial increase of 41.6 per cent.

The report said the figures indicate Nanaimo is increasing in status as a wholesale centre while local retailers are facing increased competition from other areas.

The population of Nanaimo School District 68 rose to 23,101 from 19,113 over the five-year period, representing an over-all growth of 20.3 per cent.

This was slightly more than the over-all provincial rate. The survey said it could be partly attributed to expansion of the pulp mill at Harmac.

The survey also shows 33.3 cents of the spending dollar of the average consumer in Nanaimo, Harewood, Chase River and Wellington is spent on cars, gasoline and automotive supplies.

Food and non-alcoholic beverages account for 26.7 cents; general merchandise 14.8 cents; building materials and hardware 5.9 cents; furniture and household appliances 4.2 cents; drugs and health supplies 1.9 cents and other purchases 6.5 cents.

Ex-MLA's Son Hurt in Crash At Chase River

NANAIMO—Larry Giovando, 19, son of Dr. Larry Giovando, former Nanaimo MLA, was taken to hospital here early Tuesday morning for treatment of injuries suffered when the car he was driving left the road at Chase River and hit a fence.

Also injured was Walter Bell, 19, of Lake Cowichan. Two other youths were discharged after treatment.
